'Go' on overpass

By HARRY BARNES
of the Press-Record

A 1 percent "energy tax" to be paid by Granite Cityans will be proposed as a means of funding the remaining $1.3 million needed by the city to build the proposed downtown overpass, Mayor Paul Schuler disclosed Wednesday.

A recommendation that ordinances creating the tax be enacted immediately will be made to the City Council in its regular meeting Tuesday night, June 19, the mayor said.

The new tax would form the basis of a plan by which the city would sell bonds in the amount of $650,000 each to the firemen and police pension accounts, with the bonds to be repaid from revenue raised by the tax.

The mayor said the Firemen's Pension Board, headed by Assistant Fire Chief George Smolich, has agreed to the plan. He plans to meet soon with the Police Pension Board to explain the proposal, Mayor Schuler added.

The plan will be recommended to the council by an ad hoc committee appointed a month ago by Mayor Schuler to direct activities concerning the overpass project.

The plan was devised and agreed upon by the committee in a meeting Tuesday night after the city received word a week ago from the U.S. Housing and Urban Development Committee that the city's application for a $1.3 million Urban Action Development Grant had been rejected.

The ad hoc committee includes Aldermen Warren Decatur, Margaret Nann, Lloyd Bailey and Glen Sprankle, with the mayor as chairman. Alderman Everett Morlen also attended the committee session.

The HUD rejection of the UDAG application was based on what the agency described as inadequate development of housing facilities for minorities in Granite City.

Mayor Schuler said the energy tax would be extended against use of gas and electric power by utility customers in Granite City, but that the ordinance would provide a $100 deductible clause.

"This would eliminate the tax against

Renewal clause in contract

Renewal of the garbage and trash collection contract between Granite City and the Milam-East Division of SCA Services is permissible without competitive bidding under an "automatic renewal" clause contained in the existing contract granted by the city in 1977, according to Kenneth Hartbarger, regional director of SCA Services.

Hartbarger is scheduled to meet soon, possibly with a week, with the City Council's sanitation and finance committees to discuss a request by Hartbarger's firm for financial relief for the added burden of hauling sludge from the city's sanitary sewage treatment plant and disposing of it in the landfill maintained by SCA Services on Chouteau Island between the old Chain of Rocks bridge and the I-270 canal bridge.

In a discussion of the sludge hauling problem before the City Council nearly two weeks ago, Hartbarger said the firm is willing to renew the city's garbage collection contract in 1980 on the basis of the present price schedule plus a 5 percent increase each year of the three-year contract, if some arrangement can be made to resolve the financial problems caused by the sludge hauling work.

Council members agreed that the problem should be discussed by members of the finance and sanitation committees in a meeting with Hartbarger. At the same time, several aldermen expressed the opinion that a renewal of the present contract would be "the best deal" the city could get.

Hartbarger said Wednesday that he is convinced that any effort to call bids for a new contract would result in bids considerably higher than the costs entailed under the present contract.

He said in the past it has been customary for the same contract to run for two consecutive three-year periods. Most contracts of this type today usually are for a five-year period, he added.

Garbage and trash collections involve a large investment, primarily in the operation of the landfill. The SCA Services Chain of Rocks landfill involved a cost of $860,000 not including the added cost of bulldozers, trucks, site development and payroll. Hart for a 5 percent Granite City's present contract with the Milam-East Division was awarded in mid-1977 to provide payment of $398,000 for garbage collection services during the 1977-78 fiscal year, the first year of the three-year contract. Under the provision for a 5 percent increase each year, the cost of the collection service during the 1978-79 year which ended last April 30 was $417,300.

Total cost of the service for the current 1979-80 year will be $438,975, not including any adjustment that may be made by city officials for hauling the sludge from the treatment plant.

Hartbarger explained that the original bid made by his company in 1977 was based on information at that time that the city would burn the sludge at the treatment plant in incinerators that were built for that purpose.

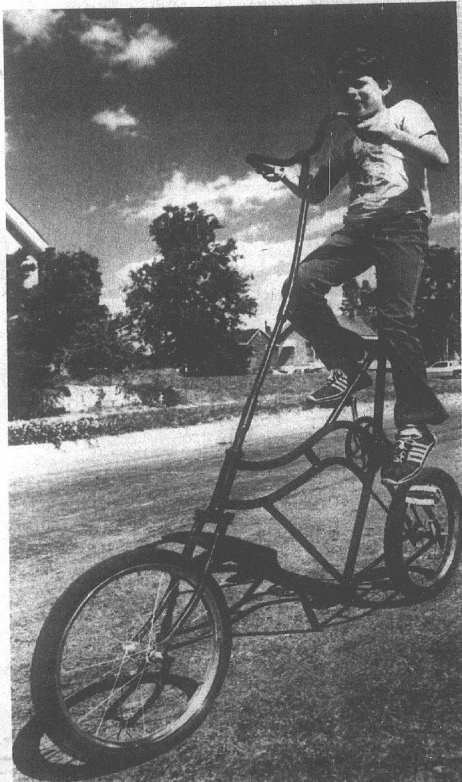

Difficulty with the incinerators developed, however, and the city found it could not burn the sludge without mixing it with oil at as prohibitive cost. Milam-East agreed to haul the sludge and place it in the landfill at no cost, because city officials believed then that the problem was of short duration, probably for not more than three months.

At the June 5 council session, Hartbarger noted that the three-month period for which Milam-East had agreed to haul and dispose of the sludge "now has turned into 24 months."

Hartbarger said his firm is losing approximately $5,000 per month through the additional work.

"We are not out for blood. We just want some relief," Hartbarger told the aldermen.

Under the existing contract, the city also has the privilege of using the firm's landfill which is a great advantage to the street department, he said. The street department disposes of trash, debris and cast-off articles at the landfill at no cost.

HIGH AND MIGHTY. Jimmy Koelker, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Koelker Jr., 525 Jefferson Ave., Venice, takes an afternoon ride through the streets of his hometown. He is riding a converted bicycle which was made with two regular frames and extensions for the four and one-half foot high seat and even higher handlebars. The unusual bicycle has 20-inch wheels which makes it relatively easy to ride. Getting on and off of the bicycle is not always as easy. He is seen this week on Sixth Street near Washington Avenue.

Happy launch but flight ends short of goal

The huge Purina Dog Chow balloon makes ready for takeoff at 6:30 a.m. Tuesday from the Mississippi River Festival parking area. The largest hot-air balloon in the world, with a height of 145 feet, it was to have tried to break the distance record, 350 miles, and surpass a record for time aloft, 18 hours and 56 minutes. The crew failed to exceed either as tears in the balloon developed shortly after takeoff and the trio crash-landed near Fairfield, Ill., about 100 miles from the point of origin. The rips caused rapid use of fuel, making completion of the flight as planned impossible. Bob Esch of Edwardsville was the pilot, accompanied on the flight by former astronaut Ed Mitchell (Apollo 14), and Lenny Barad of St. Louis. More photos of the balloon are on Page 23 of this issue.

JC homecoming opens tonight

By KATHY SMALL
of the Press-Record

Carnival rides, country music and refreshment booths will be featured at Granite City Jaycees' homecoming which will begin tonight at 6 and continue through Sunday.

The event will take place at the clubhouse grounds at 1855 Poplar St., across from the Granite City Army Installation.

The homecoming will be held from 6 p.m. until 12 midnight each day, with matinees on Saturday and Sunday from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m.

"We're hoping to promote a good time," said Bob Burgess, a Jaycee spokesman.

The five-day celebration will begin on Saturday, June 30, and will conclude with a 45 minute display of fireworks at 9 p.m. on Wednesday, July 4.

Carnival rides by Ray Swayear will be for children among others.

Refreshments and games of skill will also be offered. A country music band under the direction of Buddy North will play Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights.

A local club, the Flipper Tail Citizen Band Radio Club, has been donating its time to help promote the event.

A profit of $3,000 is hoped for, according to Burgess. The money will be used for civic funding, such as donations for the prevention of retardation, and for youth-oriented events.

"Ninety-nine percent of the money will go back into the community," Burgess commented.

The last year the homecoming was held was 1977, and $4,000 was raised. Due to lack of a location, the event was not held last year.

Cyclist injured

Jerry Hall, 18, of 2411 Logan St., suffered multiple injuries when he was involved in a motorcycle accident and he was admitted to St. Elizabeth Medical Center at 6:10 p.m. Tuesday.

He suffered a broken right wrist, abrasions to his left arm, back, right shoulder, left hand and both knees and pain to his neck and abdomen.

563 veterans at BAC this summer

Despite predictions of the Health, Education and Welfare Department and the Veterans' Cost of Instruction Program, that veterans' education under the G.I. Bill would be virtually phased out by now, veterans' enrollment at Belleville Area College is up 25 percent over the summer of 1978.

Ken Fish, Veterans Administration representative, and Mike Tharp, veterans' services director for the college, attribute the increase to the "tremendous efforts" of outreach worker Jim Oakley, as well as to the "overall positive public relations image of the college."

According to Tharp, 563 men and women are attending the college this summer under the G.I. Bill. "Approximately 300 more veterans whose G.I. benefits have expired are enrolled under the Illinois Veterans Scholarship," Tharp said. "These figures indicate that almost one out of four students studying at Belleville Area College this summer has served in the military."

Despite decreases of as much as 50 percent in veteran enrollment in other community colleges and state universities, veteran enrollment at BAC has declined only slightly during the last two years.

In fact, BAC was the only college in Illinois that experienced no decline in the number of veterans enrolled last fall.

He had appeared in court on a local charge of deceptive practice for which he was placed on one year of court supervision.

Gasohol no longer being sold in area

"Gasohol" has been removed from its only local outlet, the Spartan service station at Routes 111 and 162.

Shawn Kee, manager, said that the mixture, which is an improper mixture containing too much alcohol and not enough gasoline. Denying that an engine overhaul exceeding $200 could be attributed to the wrong mix, he said the station did finance an air filter and sparkplug work averaging $70 per car for four or five motorists.

The factor that prompted the station to discontinue gasohol in the appropriate 90-10 proportion was a wholesale price increase for more than $1 a gallon, Kee said.

News notes

Madison County State's Attorney Nicholas Byron is nearly finished with an investigation of whether numerous secret Southern Illinois University board meetings dealt only with topics authorized by the Illinois Open Meetings Act.

It is being alleged that some of the closed-door discussions dealt with changes in the university governing structure. Board Chairman Harris Rowe said yesterday such matters relate to personnel and thus are allowed to be secret, but some faculty members disagree.

Truck drivers' protest strike has spread to 29 states and is causing more intense gasoline shortages in Kentucky, Tennessee and Alabama. Independent haulers are seeking uniform weight and load limits, an increase in the speed limit from 55 to 65 miles per hour and cheaper and more available diesel fuel.

The Illinois House approved 150-3 Tuesday a Senate-passed bill making it more difficult to obtain "talwin," a drug called potentially dangerous.

Governor James R. Thompson is reporting that he will veto a food and drug sales tax waiver because it would eliminate too much state revenue. The proposal was approved 8-2 by the Senate Revenue Committee yesterday.

The Illinois House on a 50-76 vote rejected a 20-cent-a-pack state cigarette tax increase that would have created a cancer treatment fund.

The Illinois Transportation Department said Wednesday it will reduce its Bi-State bus system subsidy by next year unless Madison, St. Clair and Monroe counties governmental bodies provide part of the subsidy.

Possible merger of the Aid group in Collinsville and the Madison County Council on Alcohol and Drug Dependence into the Madison County-Quad Cities Mental Health Center is still under discussion but not yet agreed upon, members of the Madison County Community Mental Health (786) Board said at a meeting Monday night. The board agreed to cooperate in a study of whether handicapped persons need specially-designed housing.

It is currently estimated that Madison County has a population of 245,600, down 5,300 from the 1970 census. Births outnumbered deaths by 31,300 to 18,800 during the decade, for a net gain of 12,500, but it is believed that a net of 17,800 persons moved out of the county. The City of St. Louis has lost 117,600 to 504,600. St. Clair County has decreased 5,900 to 279,700 and the overall metropolitan area has lost 25,300 to reach a population of 2,385,500.

TOP AWARD. Gene H. Sternberg (right) is presented the Southern Illinois Builders Association's 1979 Industry Advancement Award by Monty Docter, chairman of the SIBA Industry Advancement Foundation. Sternberg, president of G. H. Sternberg & Co., Granite City, was cited for his leadership in developing educational and training programs during his term as the Foundation's first chairman. Many of these programs focus on attracting youth and developing talent for the construction industry. The annual award was established as industry's highest achievement award to publicly recognize individuals who have unselfishly promoted the image and growth of the construction industry in Southern Illinois. Sternberg was president of SIBA in 1962 and a member of the board of directors for 18 years, and has served as a national director of the Associated General Contractors of America.

ANITA R. WALLACE has had courses in typing, shorthand and business communications. Her year's training in North High School's Cooperative Education Program gave her on-the-job training in filing, typing, telephone technique and keeping accurate attendance records on all students. She would now like a full-time job as an office worker in a job where there is opportunity for advancement.

RAYMOND E. JONES is Granite City High South's candidate of the week. He has completed courses in vocational heating and air conditioning, algebra, geometry, woods and drafting. He seeks a permanent job where he can apply the skills he has learned.

Information on both May 1979 graduates is available at the school district's placement office (877-1512, extension 65).

Overpass

virtually all householders, with industry paying the greater part of the tax," the mayor said, noting that industry stands to gain the greater benefits from the overpass.

He estimated that the tax would raise, approximately $300,000 per year which would be sufficient to retire the bonds and pay the interest to the two pension accounts.

The plan, he noted, would benefit the pension accounts by interest paid on the bonds.

Records in the office of City Treasurer Nick Petrillo show that the balance in the Police Pension Fund now is $1,871,383 and the balance in the Firemen's Pension Fund is $1,777,371. Cost of building the overpass spanning the railroad tracks from downtown Granite City to West Granite has been estimated at $5.2 million.

Nearly $4 million of the cost has been accounted for in Community Development funds and a Federal Aid to Urban System grant, leaving a total of $1.3 million still to be raised.

the son of Lloyd R. Smith, who conceived and carried out the concept of the world's first fully automated factory. Tutt, a former ASME president and professor emeritus of the GM Institute, made the presentation on behalf of ASME.

Forerunner of GC frame plant is designated an engineering landmark

"It was not a group of individual machines but one big machine covering an immense floor, with all parts perfectly synchronized and timed," L. B. Smith recalled during ceremonies designating A. O. Smith Corporation's South Plant a national historical mechanical engineering landmark by the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

Smith, chairman and chief executive officer of A. O. Smith, is the son of Lloyd R. Smith, who conceived and carried out the concept of the world's first fully automated factory.

The automated plant in Milwaukee was in operation from May 23, 1921 to June 24, 1968.

During these years, great banks of machines, performing 552 separate mechanical operations, produced an average of 10,000 automobile frames every 24 hours.

Characterized as "one of the most romantic achievements of the modern industrial era during its first years of operation," Smith said, "it still remains an unparalleled engineering feat today."

Only when automobile manufacturers began making extensive model changes each year, which meant annual changes in frame design and in the automated assembly lines, did the automation process become too costly and time consuming, he said.

During most of the automated plant's 37 years of operation, the company was easily able to switch from model to model, perhaps manufacturing Cadillac frames in the morning and Buick frames in the evening.

On the commemorative bronze dedication plaque presented, ASME said of the plant, "A. O. Smith Corporation's automated automobile frame factory began production in 1921 and achieved a production of better than one frame every eight seconds. Sections of the original machinery are still functioning in this building.

"As a mechanized orchestration of over 500 operations on each frame, it was considered a wonder of its time and a prototype of the factory of the future."

The plaque was accepted by A. O. Smith President John R. Parker, who credited concepts and innovations proven in the automated plant as a factor in A. O. Smith's progress to become the world's largest manufacturer of automobile and truck frames. The company as a major frame plant in Granite City.

ASME's landmarks program, begun in 1973, is to identify mechanical engineering works of national and international importance, increase public awareness of contributions to progress and development, and to preserve the physical remains of such sites.

Chase ends in arrest

Russell L. Cochran, 19, of 4205 Rode Ave., was charged with fleeing from police, reckless driving and criminal damage to property after police alleged chasing his car on Nameoki Road at 11 p.m. Tuesday.

Officers alleged seeing a northbound car driving in a reckless manner, squealing its tires and going at a high rate of speed on Nameoki Road from Johnson Road.

When the driver saw officers, he slowed the car, but then sped away when a squad car approached, officers reported. The auto was chased by police cars with red lights and sirens to Pontoon Road, where police lost sight of it.

A short time later, a resident of the 4000 block of North Street reported a car of the same description had just driven through a yard at 4004 North St., and had stopped in the driveway.

Officers arrested two persons in the parked car, but released the passenger after questioning. They alleged there was damage to the lawn at the home where the car was parked.

Urge prompt return of Chouteau survey forms

The response has been poor, thus far, to a survey being taken by Chouteau Township to determine how much financial aid can be offered to needy residents in linking their home sewers to the new sanitary sewers being installed in the township, township officials said today.

Community Development grant funds will be used to help low-income residents meet the cost of connecting their homes with the new sanitary sewers within the coming year, but a survey is necessary for the township to determine what percentage of the cost can be underwritten by the township without running out of money.

The township hopes to bear a significant amount of the cost of new sewer lines from homes to the new sewers and the hook-up inspection fee for low-income township residents.

A coupon in today's Press-

Record should be returned to the township listing family income and the approximate number of feet of sewer line that will have to be installed from the home to the new sanitary sewers.

Persons meeting the guidelines, based on the number of persons in each family, are being urged to complete the coupon in today's Press-Record as soon as possible. A chart on the coupon lists the maximum income levels, according to family size, eligible to apply for assistance in the sewer link-up. "We are hopeful people will respond immediately to the survey so we can set up workable guidelines to help those who need financial aid in linking to the new sewers. We know there are many people out there who need this aid," Supervisor Walter "Dick" Sparks stated.

Coupons should be returned to Chouteau Township, Rural Route Two, Box 697A, Granite City, Ill. 62040. Inquiries may be made by calling 931-0293.

Paint causes most child lead poisoning

Arthur Grist, special assistant to the STUE president for business affairs and president of the St. Louis Regional Lead Poisoning Advisory Council, feels that lead poisoning in children is generally caused by eating chips of the lead-based paint found in most older homes in the bi-state metropolitan area.

"Early symptoms often go unnoticed before it is too late, causing irreversible damage to the kidneys and nervous system and leading to retardation and even death," Grist said Tuesday. The only effective way to detect lead poisoning is through screening, he said. More than 5,000 children in the metropolitan area were screened in 1978, with 312 requiring treatment.

Screening efforts are being increased during Lead Poisoning Prevention Week this week. Information on screening programs in the region area may be obtained by telephoning (314) 622-4638.

Concerned with the identification, treatment and elimination of lead poisoning in the bi-state area, the Lead Poisoning Advisory Council has prepared an informational booklet about the subject which can be obtained at no charge by contacting Larry Mathews at the Greater St. Louis Health Systems Agency, 915 Olive St., St. Louis 63101 or by telephoning (314) 241-5810.

A mobile testing center will be in Madison and Venice June 18-19, Granite City June 20-22, and Pontoon Beach and Mitchell June 23.

Arrest 2 as citizens help

David L. Ely, 26, and Richard E. Crider, 21, of 1736 Cleveland Blvd., were arrested by police and charged with destruction of property, pending the posting of $100 bonds.

The pair allegedly threw a concrete block through the window of Joyce and Mickey's Tavern, 1809 Delmar Ave., at 2:23 a.m. Tuesday.

The two men allegedly tried to enter the locked tavern as the cleaning man was working and wanted to be served. The pair were told the tavern was closed and they apparently became irritated and started yelling profanities and beating on the doors, police reported.

They allegedly went to the north side of the building, picked up a concrete block and threw it through a 24-inch by 30-inch window, valued at $30.

Three men, standing in a parking lot across the street, heard the crash and chased the subjects to a house on Cleveland Boulevard where they watched the house until police arrived and took Ely and Crider into custody.

POOLSIDE BREAK. Beth Ravanelli of Granite City steps down from the lifeguard tower to take a break from her duties as lifeguard at the Tower Lake recreation area at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. A senior at the university, she is majoring in special education.

Security staff here names honorary aide

Nine-year-old Robert Largent, a student at Bel Nor Elementary School in Normandy, may well be the youngest member of any security force in the nation. He has been made an honorary security policeman of the Army's St. Louis Area Support Center (SLASC) security force in Granite City.

Robert, who lives at the Army's Wherry Housing complex in St. Louis, is the son of Sgt. First Class Patrick Largent and Mrs. Rosalind Largent.

He was presented a letter of appreciation and a security policeman badge by Security Chief Charles McPeters for delivering flyers describing ways to discourage burglary to residents of Wherry Housing.

Going from door to door at the Wherry housing complex for members of the armed forces and their dependents, he delivered flyers to all 94 units in the complex.

The Security Division has offices at the Granite City

Army Installation and is responsible for maintaining security at all St. Louis metropolitan area housing complexes for members and dependents of the armed forces.

'Deputy dog' assigned to GC deputy

Madison County Sheriff Emil Toffant has added four more legs to his staff, but not in the form of two new deputies.

Uncas (pronounced yew-nus), the first canine officer of the sheriff's department, has been purchased with a grant from the Southwestern Illinois Law Enforcement Commission (SILEC) for $350 and has been assigned to Deputy Jack Rodgers of Granite City.

Both the deputy and the police dog will undergo a 14-week training course at a St. Louis Police training facility in September before Uncas will take "to the streets" with Rodgers.

They will be on duty from 7 p.m. to 3 a.m., but will be available for call-out at any time when needed to search buildings or aid in locating lost persons.

It is doubtful the dog will be used for sniffing out bombs or narcotics, since additional training would be required and the training would be a gamble, since only certain dogs have the capabilities for bomb and narcotics detection.

The name Uncas is only temporary. A contest among county grade school children is planned for the near future. Uncas is part of the dog's pedigree name of Uncas Von Der Herreheiche—obviously German for a German shepherd.

The main advantages of the police dog are that he can easily detect hidden persons and intruders, can hold suspects at bay without maiming or biting them and can help protect the officer commanding him, officials say.

What a tremendous responsibility rests upon Dad's shoulders! We have been granted the privilege of teaching the next generation of leaders for our society. Let us pray that we will devote most of our time, strength, and ability.

Provoke not, simply means Dad, that you must not expect your child to know everything that you know. Don't be upset by expecting too much, too soon. Take time to instruct, to teach by example; teach them well the first time, and you won't have to keep teaching them over and over.

Most important of all, bring them up with a knowledge of God. Don't fail in this greatest need of all of life. God first, and everything else will fall into place.

Chase today; arrest two

Laura E. Leet, 18, of the 3000 block of Myrtle Ave., was charged with driving without a license, illegal transportation of liquor, violating a red light and speeding (65 miles-per-hour in a 35 mph zone) after police alleged chasing her auto at speeds over 65 mph on Madison Avenue at 1:10 a.m. today.

A passenger in the car, Robert W. Miller, 43, of the 3000 block of Myrtle Ave., was charged with illegal possession of liquor in a vehicle.

Officers first saw a purple AMC Hornet northbound on Madison Avenue at a high rate of speed and a siren to chase the vehicle. It allegedly violated the flashing red lights at Madison Avenue and Nameoki Road, where a second squad car joined the pursuit. The car was stopped at Belmore Village Shopping Center and officers alleged finding open beer inside.

Miller was charged and released and Laura Leet was lodged in the Madison jail for Granite City police.

Fuel shortage may halt sewer project

By GARY SCHNEIDER
of the Press-Record

A shortage of diesel fuel is threatening to halt construction of sanitary sewers in Nameoki, Chouteau and Venice townships, the county's special sewer committee was informed Wednesday night.

A letter from Wayne M. Hellemeyer, project manager for S.M. Wilson & Co., to Ed Juneau, project engineer for the sewers, was read at last night's meeting in which Hellemeyer said a shortage of diesel fuel already has cut construction to halt the former rate and threatens to halt the project entirely.

Hellemeyer said in the letter that applications for emergency hardship fuel allocations have been submitted to E. Wayne Bahr, manager, Fuel Allocation Institute of Natural Resources, Springfield, but the May application was denied and no action has been taken on the June application. "As late in the month as it is now, I can only believe our June allocation also has been rejected," Hellemeyer said this morning.

"Our organization is seeking outside sources of diesel fuel, but the chances of obtaining sufficient fuel for this project are very low," he informed the committee in the letter.

This morning, he told the Press-Record that his fuel supplier, J.H. Collier, Inc., East St. Louis, will be unable to supply any fuel for the project after tomorrow, because Collier's allocation for June was cut to 60 percent of the amount he received the previous year.

We have enough fuel to keep us going on a limited basis, through Monday or Tuesday, and we are going to attempt to buy enough locally to keep going," Hellemeyer said.

"I have filled every container I could beg, borrow or steal with diesel fuel, but I still am going to have to lay off some people every day until we can get more fuel," Hellemeyer added.

He said laying off experienced people puts the project further behind schedule because, "they scatter to the four winds.

Then we have to get new people and train them and that takes time. New people make mistakes and damage things and that upsets the residents near the project."

Hellemeyer said the project is continuing "day-by-day" while fuel lasts, but is bound to fall behind schedule as a result, not found. "This is our prime working season. We need to get the pipe in the ground now so we can do final tie-ins and check-outs in the summer of 1980. If we have to continue construction in the summer of 1980, it would mean we could not do our final check-outs until the spring of 1981 and it is possible that hook-ups could not be made until 1982," he explained.

He asked the sewer committee to help in finding local or convenient energy officials that the $17.5 million project should be given a priority for fuel. Juneau said he already has talked to county officials and Madison County Board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer of Granite City said he plans to talk to U.S. Congressman Melvin Price about the crisis.

As a final warning, Hellemeyer stated, "If this allocation cannot be obtained, we should all be prepared to shut this project down. An emergency plan should be in effect to notify the homeowners being serviced by this project that it has been delayed."

"When the project runs out of diesel fuel, we will, of course, have to discontinue restoration, repairs of roadway surfaces and all other surfaces requiring diesel fuel," Hellemeyer concluded.

Sewer Committee Chairman Louis Whitely commented after reading the letter, "It does not make sense to slow this project down. Say nothing of shut it down. The cost is bound to rise." He asked Juneau if the contractor will be responsible for adding fuel to the project caused by delays and Juneau said the contractor probably could not be held responsible, since the fuel shortage was not something the contractor could do anything about.

In other business, the committee was told that its attorney, Harry Hanan, and Juneau will meet early next week with Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler and City Engineer Monroe Brezger to renegotiate treatment rates and other details involved with the new sewers tapping into the Granite City sewer and using the city's sewage treatment facilities.

Several committee members indicated they will attempt to attend that meeting. A precise date has not been set.

Civil rights suit complaint served

Madison City Clerk John Bellco informed the Madison City Council Tuesday evening that he, as city clerk, had been served with copies of the complaints filed last week with the U.S. District Court, Southern Illinois District.

The suit has been filed on behalf of Mrs. Barbara Guest of Madison who is claiming her civil rights have been violated over the purchase of a house.

The suit is asking an immediate declaratory judgment in her behalf against Madison Mayor Mike Sasyk, Madison Building Inspector John Dutko and the city of Madison and $50,000 in damages from each party named.

Mrs. Guest is being represented by Attorney Gerald Montroy of Belleville.

The Madison officials and the city will be represented by City Attorney Casper S. Nighossian and David H. Adamson III.

On April 15, Mrs. Guest purchased a home at 1625 Market St., Madison, but has been unable to get the city to inspect the house for an occupancy permit.

She is employed at Granite City Steel and is currently making both house payments and rent payments.

Mrs. Guest alleges that the mayor and building inspector have been stalling her efforts to move into the house because she is black. Mayor Sasyk said Wednesday he did not care to make any comments at this time, as he has not had time to study the allegations or to confer with the city attorney.

Another law suit is pending in the U.S. District court charging Mayor Sasyk, City Attorney Nighossian and Dutko with conspiracy to violate the civil rights of William Radman and Angelo Jones.

This issue is over the city's condemnation of property at 1657 Third St., Madison.

Radman alleges that the conspiracy occurred when he was selling the house to Jones who is black.

Radman is alleging the Madison Housing Code is unconstitutional and that the city of Madison is improperly using the building code.

He is asking $130,000 damages.

Port leases depot tracks

Improved movement of rail cars through the Tri-City Regional Port is the aim of actions taken by the port board Monday night.

The board agreed to lease 8,700 feet of rail track on the Granite City Army Installation for the storage and classification of rail cars. The storage track is expected to clear the tracks on the port property for the use of cars being used for loading and unloading goods.

A sub-lease with the Illinois Terminal Railroad also was approved to have that railroad conduct all switching and moving operations of rail cars on the port's tracks.

It was decided to increase the number of official port operations vehicles from two cars to three with a leased auto from Hundley Leasing of Granite City.

Carl Ranft, executive director of the port, reported he had attended a public hearing on Locks and Dam 26 at Alton, during which testimony in favor of dredging and other improvements was taken.

Two are beaten in Mitchell

David W. Cooper, 19, of 931 St. Thomas Road, and Robert Stomum, 17, of 945 Cote Brillante, were beaten by two men in Mitchell at 11:50 p.m. Monday and were treated and released from St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

The victims said they were walking on West Chain of Rocks Road when a car passed them twice, the occupants calling them obscene names. On the second pass, the pedestrians yelled back at the young men in the car and then ran. At Ruth Drive and Patricia Ave., the car caught up with the two and two young men in the car beat Cooper and Stomum, the victims reported.

Cooper suffered swelling to his jaw and a cut to his right hand, and Stomum suffered swelling to his jaw.

The city reciprocates by supplying monitoring and field work for the state, including monitoring of pollution from local industries.

Mrs. Case reported some progress is evident in local air quality, but specific problem areas are being watched. "Improvement of air quality takes time."

Granite City Steel is rebuilding its coke ovens and is completing other improvements which should reflect themselves in cleaner air in the near future, but these improvements take time," she said.

She said public hearings have been arranged in Granite City July 9 to 11, including a night session July 10, on a 1977 air pollution incident allegedly involving the sinter plant at Granite City Steel.

The company and Illinois EPA have been unable to reach agreement on the cause of the incident and ways of prohibiting it happening in the future, so the EPA initiated a suit which is to be heard by the Illinois Air Pollution Control Board.

if she did not do exactly as he said. The attacker took with him a Bulova wristwatch. As soon as he left, the woman called police and met them outside the house. She was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

The attacker was described as being in his 20's, between five foot seven inches and five foot nine inches tall of slender build and wearing white pants and a white or light-colored shirt.

$40,000 air grant approved

The Granite City Air Pollution Control Board was told Tuesday night that the United States Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) has approved the city's request for about $40,000 in grant funds for the 1979-80 fiscal year, representing about 43 percent of the operating cost of the city's Air Pollution Control Department.

Air Pollution Control Engineer Paula Case reported that both the size and percentage of the federal grant has grown yearly in support of the local program. For the 1978-79 fiscal year, the basic grant was 37.4 percent of the total operating budget of the department and there was a ceiling on the amount which could be given of $28,000.

A supplemental grant of $11,000 later in the year increased the percentage of the year's grant, she explained.

While the Illinois EPA does not provide financial support to the city's air pollution control department, it does supply supporting services, such as equipment maintenance and calibration, data processing and services to keep the local program in the statewide program, which includes

Eisenhower Memorial

By VALERIE EVENEDEN of the Press-Record

In about two months, Steve Konkovich of Granite City is planning a return visit to the Eisenhower Center, a memorial complex in Abilene, Kan., dedicated to the late President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

His initial trip to the Eisenhower family home, museum, library and the Place of Meditation, all part of the overall complex, resulted in the Granite City man becoming a small part of the enormous collection of memorabilia displayed by the National Archives and Records Services at the Dwight D. Eisenhower Library.

In 1959, Konkovich and his wife, Agnes, 2802 Dogwood Drive, toured the center and the former had his photograph taken in front of the two-story frame home where General Eisenhower's family resided from 1898 until 1946.

Konkovich was standing alongside the memorial marker and a tall flagstaff with the Stars and Stripes, whipped by the breeze, standing out in full display.

Unfortunately, as Konkovich had observed, the U. S. Flag was upside down.

The resulting photo, which was published with an item in the Press-Record some 20 years ago, drew national attention.

Subsequent prints of the picture were personally autographed for Konkovich by former President Richard M. Nixon and by Mrs. Mamie Doud Eisenhower, widow of the late President.

Both photographs and signatures were treasured by the Granite City resident, but in 1973 he donated the picture autographed by Mrs. Eisenhower to the Eisenhower Library.

The photograph is now displayed as a part of the Audiovisual Collector's Still Photograph Division in the library, according to John E. Wickman, director.

Wickman expressed his hope that Konkovich would visit the library again soon in a letter to the local man, dated May 18, 1979.

The director noted where the photograph is located in the library and forwarded several brochures describing the memorial's newest features.

The same director wrote to Konkovich in 1972, acknowledging the receipt of the original photograph and made the comment, "I am only sorry that the picture was not brought to the President's attention, for General Eisenhower enjoyed a joke as well as, if not more than, anyone I have ever known."

Located on Southeast Fourth Street, east of Kansas Highway 15 and two miles south of the Abilene exit from Interstate 70, all the buildings at the Eisenhower Center are open to the public.

The memorial complex is open every day of the week from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. throughout the year, with the exception of Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's Day.

Admission to the exhibit areas of the museum is by ticket, with a fee of 75 cents for all persons 16 years of age and over.

No fee is charged at the library, home, Place of Meditation or visitors' center.

Among the historical documents in the museum is General Eisenhower's first report noting the end of the Second World War in the European Theater of Operations.

The terse, but monumental report in the supreme Allied commander's own hand simply states:

"The mission of this Allied Force was fulfilled at 3:00 a.m., local time, May 7, 1945, Eisenhower."

A follow-up document, written by the general for transmission immediately after the first report, reads:

"A detailed report on signing of armistice and my recommendations respecting forementioned announcement follow immediately. Although hostilities do not officially cease until one minute after midnight on the night of May 8, I believe, as explained in longer telegram to follow, that armistice should be at earliest hour that condition can be achieved. Eisenhower"

Another document displayed is the telegram sent by General Mark Clark announcing the Korean Armistice to President Eisenhower, together with the pen used to sign the official armistice document.

The Place of Meditation is the final resting place of Dwight D. Eisenhower and also his first born son, Doud Dwight Eisenhower.

The Eisenhower Museum, constructed by the Eisenhower Foundation with funds raised through public subscriptions and gifts, was dedicated on Veteran's Day 1954.

The museum and Eisenhower home, including their contents, were given to the United States by the Eisenhower Foundation in 1966.

THE MARSHALL TUCKER BAND appeared Tuesday and Wednesday nights at the Mississippi River Festival, with special guests the Pure Prairie League. The Tuesday concert, attended by 17,000 hat waving Tucker fans, was typically loud and the foot stomping music kept the people on their feet throughout most of the show. Pure Prairie League brought cheers from the crowd with its own band of rock.

Same-day mail service in metro area slated here

In by 10 a.m. and delivered by 5 p.m.

That's the main feature of a new same-day Express Mail Metro Service that will be provided by the U.S. Postal Service beginning Monday, June 18, in the St. Louis metropolitan area.

Participants include the Granite City, Collinsville, Edwardsville, Alton, East Alton and Belleville post offices.

Designed to provide highly expedited local delivery of business mail, Express Mail Metro Service will enable customers to bring time-sensitive letters or packages weighing up to 70 pounds to the designated post offices before 10 a.m. and be assured of delivery by 5 p.m. Delivery will be backed by a full postage refund guarantee if delivery standards are not met.

Standard Express Mail insurance for packages containing merchandise valued up to $500 and documents reconstruction coverage of up to $50,000 will be provided at no additional cost.

At eight centrally-located offices, items deposited by noon also will be delivered by 5 p.m. They are: Clayton Branch Post Office, 7750 Maryland Ave., St. Louis 63105; Airport Mail Facility, Lambert Airport, St. Louis 63145.

Jefferson Memorial Station, 14 S. 4th St., St. Louis 63102.

East St. Louis, Ill. 62201, Main Post Office, 950 Missouri Ave.

Central Station, 1140 Olive St., St. Louis 63101.

Jennings Branch, a Northland Shopping Center, St. Louis 63136.

Main Post Office, 18th and Market streets, St. Louis 63155.

Maryville Gardens Station, 2920 Meramec St., St. Louis 63118.

Pickup service at the customer's place of business will be available on a prearranged, scheduled basis.

Rates for the new service are: $9 for items one pound and under; $12 for items weighing over one pound and through eight pounds; and $15 for pieces over eight and through 70 pounds.

A charge of $5.25 per trip is made for pickup service, regardless of the number of items.

William F. Bolger, postmaster general, said the new Express Mail Metro Service "is intended to meet the growing demands of business mailers who require same-day delivery letters, business documents and data."

Recent Postal Service surveys showed that an estimated 76 percent of current volume of these deliveries is sent by companies using their own employees to effect same-day delivery.

The postmaster general said he hopes these companies will find it cheaper and more convenient to use the new Express Mail Metro Service.

The Postal Service has pointed out that it does not intend to, nor could it, replace all private delivery services in metropolitan areas.

Express Mail Metro Service was first implemented on a temporary basis May 2 in Chicago, Columbus, Ohio, and Gulfport, Miss.

The service is being expanded to the 22 largest metropolitan areas in the nation this summer.

St. Louis Postmaster Claude I. Bakewell said that mailers interested in Express Mail Metro Service may contact him for further details by calling (314) 425-5347.

County renews real estate tax

Emergency legislation necessary for Madison County to resume collection of the privilege tax on real estate transfers was approved during a special meeting of the County Board in Edwardsville Tuesday morning.

Ron Lucas, county recorder of deeds, said the action does not change the amount of tax persons transferring real estate pay, but "plugs a loophole" in the law which was discovered recently and which prohibited counties from collecting real estate transfer taxes.

Lucas estimated the county had lost more than $5,000 since May 17 and would have lost $10,000 to $13,000 if the board had waited until its regularly scheduled June 28 meeting to reinstate the tax.

He said the county gains more than $100,000 per year from the transfer tax, "and, as we all know, we can't afford that," he stated.

Lucas emphasized that the action does not create a new tax or change the amount of the tax, which has been collected for many years.

The former state law, which allowed a tax of $1 for each $1,000 of property transferred from one owner to another, was found unconstitutional, due to a technicality. Half of that tax had been kept by the counties and the other half went to the state.

May 17, the state passed new legislation renewing the 50-cent tax the state receives per $1,000 property transfer, but leaving it up to counties to pass their own ordinances to collect the tax.

"The legislature never checked with county boards or office holders on this. They just renewed their own tax and left us out," Lucas said.

He also said the state did not notify his office of the change, and he continued to collect the tax for a few days until finding out that it was no longer authorized by state law. Whether he will have to reimburse those who paid the tax during those few days is yet to be determined, the county recorder said.

A motion by Board Member James R. Heil of Alton to exempt deeds transferred by court order, such as in dissolution of marriage judgments, was tabled for further study by the legislative committee and the state's attorney's office.

Heil, who is an attorney, contends nearly every attorney in the county "lies" about property transferred by court order to make it exempt from the tax, by contending the actual consideration given for the property is less than $100, the minimum on which the tax can be collected.

"Either we should make it legal to be exempt from the tax when transfers are by court order or we should demand proof that the actual consideration is less than $100," Heil said.

His amendment can be added at a later date, if approved by the state's attorney's office, the members agreed.

The board voted 18-1 in favor of the ordinance to renew the transfer tax with only Board Member Homer Boothman of State Park Place in opposition. Boothman later told the Press-Record he voted no only because of minor changes in the wording of the ordinance made by Heil. "I am not against the tax," he stated.

Arrest man for assault

A suspect's former wife in Granite City gave Missouri authorities a photograph of her ex-husband and his place of employment, which led to his arrest Thursday for sexual abuse and assault, it has been reported.

Robert N. Burress, 36, Edwardsville, was charged with attempting to rape a 17-year-old Bellefontaine Neighbors, Mo., girl May 15 near Bob Russell Park in Missouri.

The girl said she recalled advice from a movie on rape prevention, stopped scuffling with the man and promised to go with him if he let her up. When he agreed, she ran to a nearby woman who was walking her dog and the man fled in his car.

Burress was arrested at a St. Louis trucking company, where he is employed, and his bond has been set at $22,000.

BATTERIES STOLEN

The theft of three truck batteries valued at $50 each were reported stolen at 4:14 p.m. Monday from O'Dell's Iron and Metal Company, 100 State St.

Lots of outdoor activity is planned for women participating in the summer session of the Slimettes class at Wilson Park.

The program started today and will continue each Thursday from 9 a.m. to 10:30 a.m. at the rink pavilion for women 18 years of age and over.

Lee Suarez, instructor, said a series of exercises will start off the session with the participants going out into the park on walking tours. Mrs. Suarez said when a woman appears physically ready to go further, a jogging program will be worked out for each individual.

After walking or jogging, the women will return to the rink for relaxing exercises. A number of requests for a women's jogging program has been received by the Granite City Park District, the program director noted.

The classes are free for residents of the park district. Registrations will be accepted at the Wilson Park office with proof of residency.

BIG balloon takes short ride

Press-Record Photos by Pat Foley

The largest hot-air balloon in the world was launched Tuesday morning from the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville in an effort to break two records for balloon flight, but the story ended sooner than expected with a crash landing near Fairfield, Ill., about 100 miles from their starting point. 'Illinois on parade' theme of state fair

The 1979 Illinois State Fair has everything in its place — and a place for everything — as the events line up in accordance with this year's theme, "Illinois on Parade."

Enjoying a day of festive activity should be a cinch with this year's roster, a spokesman said today.

The fairground officially opens on Thursday, Aug. 9 with the ribbon cutting ceremony at noon, following a parade which begins in downtown Springfield and marches through the main entrance of the fairground.

Activities will continue well into the night as the evening's grandstand features quarterhorse racing finals.

On Friday, Aug. 10, the 102 Illinois county fairs will gain special recognition, with all county fairs being honored, as well as a special showing by the county fair talent winners.

All ages will attend that day's grandstand events with the tractor pull contest beginning at 10:30 a.m. and night entertainment featuring Bill Cosby and Mary McGregory.

Mayors and the local government officials will be honored Saturday, Aug. 11. This day has also been set aside as Barbershop Harmony Day, featuring hundreds of barbershop quartets in the Illinois Theater. The final tractor pull contest will end by afternoon, allowing Willie Nelson to appear for the evening grandstand performance. Veterans and their families will be admitted free at the gate on the fair's Veterans day, Sunday, Aug. 12.

Traditional drum and bugle corps, drill teams, color guards and clown bands will vie for awards in front of the free grandstand show until 10 p.m. The annual pork cookout and baton twirling contest are special activities slated for the day.

"Illinois on Parade" will spotlight Youth Day and Access Illinois on Monday, Aug. 13. Special activities and various contests will be conducted all day for Illinois youth and disabled citizens. Carnival rides will operate at reduced prices until 6 p.m. The grandstand will have harness races during the day, a gigantic balloon race with liftoff at 5:30 p.m. and the rock group Chicago in the evening.

On Tuesday, Aug. 14th, the focus will be on the best in Illinois agriculture. A commodity sale of ham, bacon, honey and cheese will be held on Director Block's lawn at 10:30 a.m. The fair's sale of champions will take place at 1 p.m. in the Coliseum when grand champion livestock will be auctioned. Helen Reddy will perform before the grandstand at 7 and 9 p.m.

There will be a special parade and reception on the fairgrounds as Governor Jim Thompson leads Illinois Republicans on Governor's Day Wednesday, Aug. 15. Later that day, attention will turn to the Chic-Disco Company as they take over the grandstand with their first performance at 7 p.m. On Thursday, Aug. 16, Illinois Democrats will have their turn to be honored with special participation at the fair. Activity at the grandstand will be bustling as harness racing continues on the track during the day and Tony Orlando performs in the evening.

Friday, Aug. 17, Golden Age Day, will bring senior citizens from every corner of the state for special activities. The harness race finals and the night-time entertainment of the Statler Brothers and Barbara Mandrell will be viewed from the grandstand.

Saturday, Aug. 18, Labor Day, recognizes the contributions of organized labor. The U.S. Auto Club's sanctioned "Tony Bettenhausen Memorial 100-Mile Dirt Car Championship Race" will be held with time trials at 11:45 a.m. and race time set for 2:15 p.m. Dr. Hook will perform at 7 and 9 p.m. along with Tanya Tucker. The fair's final day, Sunday, Aug. 19, will have the traditional stock car race at the grandstand. At 6:30 a.m., a 10,000-meter foot race will begin, with hundreds of racers throughout the state participating. "Nostalgia night" with Jerry Lee Lewis, Chubby Checker and Brenda Lee will conclude the 1979 "Illinois on Parade."

NEW COUNTY JAIL under construction at Edwardsville stretches for several city blocks. S. M. Wilson Co. of Granite City, general contractor for the new jail, estimates the structure will be ready for occupancy by Sept. 1, barring unforeseen delays. There are concerns that the new jail will cost double that of the current jail to staff, heat and supply with utilities. (Press-Record Photo by Gary Schindler)

County jail will be modern—and much costlier to operate

Madison County Sheriff Emil Toffant is anxious to move into new quarters in the new Madison County Jail in Edwardsville, but has some reservations, he told newsmen this week.

Toffant said the County Board will have to realize that the new facility, now under construction, will require a larger staff to man than the current century-old jail and the cost for heating, cooling and utilities will more than double and possibly triple.

Last year, utilities at the old jail cost about $30,000, including gas, electricity and water. An engineer on the construction project has given Toffant a preliminary report estimating that electricity alone for the new jail will run $5,500 per month, or around $66,000 per year. Toffant said he has asked Illinois Power Co. to do a preliminary survey on the cost for electricity and gas.

"We just don't have any idea how much it will cost us to operate. We have electric doors and all the cell blocks are operated electrically, and that is just one example," Toffant told the Press-Record.

Major Ewin Knezevich, Toffant's administrative aide, noted the new jail will require more people to operate than the old jail. Currently, 26 people are employed in the jail. Recently, a team from the National Institute of Corrections (NIC) of Boulder, Colo., toured the facility which is under construction and recommended that 87 persons man the new jail.

"That would be ideal. However, I believe we will end up with about 40 people in the new jail," Knezevich estimated.

"That would mean one full-time staff member for about every three prisoners, since the new jail's seven cell-blocks are designed to hold 110 prisoners.

With salaries increasing drastically from $273,000 last year to more than $40,000 per year when the jail opens, the total cost to operate the jail could nearly double, approaching the $1 million per year mark.

"Some of the County Board members expressed to me that they were unhappy with the estimated costs and publicity about it, but I told them I had nothing to do with designing the new jail," Toffant said.

Knezevich added, "The way the jail is designed, we will have to plan our programs around the facility, not the other way around. One example is that all the cells are maximum security."

"The problem with that is maximum security cells treat all prisoners as though they are guilty. There are no provisions for those who have not been convicted or those accused of lesser crimes.

"We really want to put in a work-release program where certain kinds of prisoners work during the days and only sleep here and are not treated like hardened criminals. This enables a person to keep his job and not fall into the spiral of welfare and stealing and a permanent life of crime.

"Besides," Knezevich said, "if we can start a work-release program, we will qualify for the federal commodities program and can get food, meat, milk and other surplus commodities from the government. We do not qualify for the program now."

Currently, the possibility of using the women's cells in the old jail for work-release cells is being studied, he said. However, maintenance on the century-old jail will be a factor which must be considered. Main walls are cracking and other expensive repairs will be required if the old jail continues in use.

The NIC is recommending that a meeting of citizens and representatives of the criminal justice system be held to form an advisory committee to recommend ways of resolving problems related to the new jail.

County board members have noted that the new jail was built, within the $4.6 million available, using suggestions made by former Sheriff John Maeras, who attended planning sessions for the structure.

Control of bagworms, leafhoppers

By WAYNE B. SIEFERT Area Adviser, Horticulture

A cloud of flying insects in your grass is probably leafhoppers.

Close inspection will show they are small triangular insects that scamper around if you hold them in your hand, and make short flights when frightened.

Leafhoppers are not a serious threat to your grass and do not require special treatment.

When this same cloud begins to migrate to your flower garden, you should watch your plants to see if the foliage becomes off-colored or mottled.

If these hoppers cause enough damage, spray your flowers with carbaryl (Sevin). It may be necessary to retreat if those hoppers continue to congregate.

Baby bagworms are busy building their first mobile home and setting up house keeping.

If you look carefully on the underside of leaves and needles, you will see a miniature tepee-shaped object that twitches around. They are often found near a small hole or notch in a leaf or needle.

Now is the right time to control bagworms. One spray application of Bacillus thuringiensis Malathion or carbaryl (Sevin) should be adequate.

Be generous. Thoroughly wet all the foliage.

GOOD GRIEF! Glen Carbon catcher Dick Awalt shows a little self-disgust after taking a called-strike Tuesday night against Marissa at Granite City South's diamond. Awalt was one-for-three at the plate with a walk and one RBI. Glen Carbon scored three runs in the bottom of the seventh to win 7-6.

Glen Carbon edges Marissa

'Steeler' bats still hot...

By PETE HAYES
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — The only think different was the color of the uniform.

In every other way here Tuesday, night, one could have thought he was watching the 1979 Granite City North baseball Steelers instead of an American Legion baseball game. But it WAS the same North team which was, as recently as last Thursday, been involved in the Illinois State Finals.

It was actually the Glen Carbon American Legion team playing at Granite City South Field in a "home" game against the Marissa American Legion squad (made up mostly of players from state Class AA champ New Athens). The result was also familiar to the North players — a victory.

Glen Carbon scored three runs in the bottom of the seventh inning to edge Marissa 7-6 and raise its record to 2-1 on the season. It was a familiar combination of hitters for Glen Carbon: shortstop Bob Bates, third baseman Jeff Stamper and second baseman Tom Greco. The three combined to give Glen Carbon its first three runs of the game and (with the exception of Stamper) its last three.

Glen Carbon, trailing 6-4 going into the bottom of the seventh, got things started when Bates singled. He moved to third when Greg Faulkner, who had come to play third base in place of Stamper, got a hit.

Bates was driven in by Greco's second hit of the game, which sent Faulkner to third. Greco advanced to second on a passed ball. Then catcher Dick Awalt walked. That set the stage for Bob Ford.

Ford, who had moved in to pitch in the seventh inning from left field, delivered a bases-loaded single which scored Faulkner and Greco, to win the game. Greco safely slid into home with the winning run.

Ford went from "goat" to "hero" with one swing of the bat. He had been touched by Marissa for two runs that gave it the lead for the first time in the game. He came in to relieve starter Russ Chappel with nobody out and one run already scored in the seventh.

"Our bats definitely saved the day," said Glen Carbon manager Art Jovi. "It looked pretty bleak there for a while."

Glen Carbon had taken a 3-0 lead in the first inning when Bates, Stamper, Greco and Awalt each singled before any were out. Greco's hit drove in Bates and Stamper, while he scored on Awalt's smash.

Marissa narrowed the gap to 3-2 in the third. Theirs, the center fielder, singled. That was followed by a walk to the first baseman Perry. Left fielder Bennington drove both runners home with a double that eluded Ford's glove in left by barely an inch. He lost the ball in the sun, allowing both runners to score.

"That was a tough break," said Jovi. "That time of day the sun is pretty bad out there in left field."

Both teams scored runs in the sixth inning. Marissa tied the score when right fielder Kevin Pour walked and scored on a double by Bennington. For Glen Carbon, Ford singled and scored on a hit by center fielder Larry Burns.

In the Marissa seventh, Chappel walked the first four batters he faced, sending in the tying run, and bringing in Ford.

Ford struck out the first batter he faced, but Pour stepped to the plate and delivered a two-run single. He got the next two batters to pop out.

"We're hurting for pitching right now," said Jovi. "(Steve) Doty has a sore elbow and we're not too deep.

"I think as the season goes on, we'll get better, though." Doty, who was the ace of the Granite (North pitching staff, injured his elbow in Sunday's doubleheader split at Edwardsville.

NOTES — Absent from the Glen Carbon lineup Tuesday were regular third baseman Mike Robertson and first baseman Dennis Page. Both are attending a basketball camp this week. Their places were taken in the lineup by Stamper and Mike Hubbard at first. ... The Glen Carbon team isn't made up entirely of Granite City North players. The regular designated hitter, and backup catcher is Madison's Ed Burns. ... Next, on the schedule for Glen Carbon is a game tonight at East St. Louis, followed by a contest Friday at GC South, with rival Tri-City Post 113. For all intents and purposes, it'll be another "North-South" game.

Lose 12-7, win 3-2

Legion splits with Edwardsville

EDWARDSVILLE — The Glen Carbon American Legion baseball squad didn't have much time to get ready for its season-opening doubleheader here against Edwardsville Sunday. The Glen Carbon team is comprised of players from Granite City North. The North was involved in the Illinois State High School Tournament as late as last Thursday and did not return from the Peoria-based tournament until Friday afternoon.

Chappel in the last two innings. Chappel was tagged with the loss for Glen Carbon. Going into the fifth inning, Glen Carbon had a 5-3 lead. But Edwardsville came back with four runs to tie the score. The home team got to Chappel for two runs in the sixth and three in the seventh.

In the second game, Glen Carbon trailed 2-1 after three innings, but scored a run in the fifth and seventh innings to gain the victory.

Pitcher Greg Faulkner went all the way on the mound for Glen Carbon.

Glen Carbon grabbed a 1-0 lead in the second inning when Ed Burns reached base with a single, advanced to third on a hit by Bob Bates and scored on a fielder's choice by Jeff Stamper.

In the third, Edwardsville got to Faulkner for two runs on three hits to take a 2-1 lead.

In the fifth, Glen Carbon scored a run to tie the game.

Bates singled, moved to third on a hit by Tom Greco and scored on a single by catcher Dick Awalt.

The winning run was scored in the seventh inning. Burns and Bates walked and advanced to second and third on a passed ball by Edwardsville's catcher. Burns came in to score when Stamper topped a sacrifice fly to left field.

... But Tri-City bats silent against Alton

By PETE HAYES
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — The Tri-City American Legion baseball team's bats fell silent here last night. And it couldn't have happened at a worse time.

Tri-City managed only two hits off Alton starter Chip Brakefield and lost 4-0 in a crucial District 26 contest. Alton was the North Division champion last season, with Tri-City finishing second.

Alton scored all four of its runs off Tri-City starter Terry Lindsay in the fifth inning — but that wasn't when most of the damage was done. That happened in the first two frames when the local club had runners in scoring position early but could not score.

In the first, lead-off man Kevin Sykes walked and stole second. That was followed by a walk to first baseman Jim Thurmon. The two advanced to second and third when third baseman Jeff Parker executed a perfect sacrifice bunt down the first base line. But designated hitter Todd McFarland strun out and left fielder Blake Ambuehl lined out to second, ending the threat.

Why did Tri-City manager Kirk Champion have Parker, one of the leading power hitters on the team, bunting with runners at first and second and nobody out? "I felt we had to move them over," said Champion. "McFarland had been swinging a pretty hot bat lately, so I wanted to get the runners over so that we could possibly get both of them home."

"Not many coaches would have bunted Parker, I'll admit."

In the second, centerfielder Mike DeGonia reached base on a one-out error by Alton shortstop Ross Brakefield. He moved to single when catcher Mark Linhart singled with two out. But Sykes popped out to the second baseman for the third out.

Those were the only two legitimate scoring chances Tri-City had. Alton pitcher Brakefield sent the locals down in order in every other inning except the seventh, when DeGonia reached after being beamed by a high Brakefield fastball.

The pitch bounced off DeGonia's batting helmet. He went down in a heap, but got up quickly and trotted down to first before Champion could get out to see if he was all right.

Alton managed to use some misplayed bunts in its fifth inning to get to Lindsay. With one out, catcher Jay Sabo bunted his way on, followed by a walk to left fielder Doug Henderson.

Brakefield then reached base when Lindsay misplayed a bunt, loading the bases. Lead-off man Danny Marassy then stroked a single to left-centerfield, scoring Sabo and Henderson. Ross Brakefield then singled in his brother Chip and Marassy.

Alton got to Lindsay when it could. He had little trouble the rest of the game.

"We weren't aggressive enough with the bats," said Champion. "We've got to get something out of our number three, four and five hitters. We didn't."

"It's been that way all season," he said. "It doesn't matter who we have in the batting order, either. If they don't produce, we don't win."

Champion said the key people didn't get on base. "Sykes wasn't on base after the first inning," he said. "When he gets on, things happen."

Giving evidence to that, it was Sykes who started Tri-City's scoring threat in the first inning with a walk and a stolen base.

"We didn't make them handle the ball very much tonight," said Champion. "The balls we did hit were easy grounders."

"We knew what we were doing, we just couldn't seem to do anything about it."

NOTES — The loss dropped Tri-City's record to 5-4 on the season and 4-1 in District action. That followed victories Monday and Tuesday over Bethalto and Highland. ... The next action for Tri-City will be tomorrow (Friday) at home against rival Glen Carbon, made up of players from Granite City North. Tri-City is made up entirely of GC South players. ... An interested fan at last night's game was Granite South coach (and former Tri-City manager) "Babe" Champion. Actually, he was more than a fan. He was there as "head groundskeeper." He and South assistant coach John Modica moved grass and worked the field from 3:30 p.m. until the 6 p.m. game time. In fact, Modica had to dodge a couple foul balls while moving the grass next to the fence along the third base side after the game started. ... Tri-City manager Kirk Champion had to make a last getaway after last night's game. He and Tri-City coaches Eldon Warfield and John Lakin played in a St. Louis baseball league. Champion had a game in St. Charles at 8:30 last night.

BIG CUT. Tri-City Post 113's Kevin Sykes takes a full swing at a pitch last night in action against Alton. The Tri-City bats were virtually silent, as Alton claimed a 4-0 victory in American Legion baseball action. Tri-City's next action will be Friday at home against Glen Carbon.

T-C comeback edges Highland squad 6-5

By KEVIN ALLEN
of the Press-Record

HIGHLAND — In Tri-City's 6-5 win over Highland, Tuesday night, the winning run, scored by Scott Ficker, was typical of Tri-City's play all night.

"The key to the game is hustle," Tri-City coach Kirk Champion said.

"Ficker is probably the slowest guy on the team, but he was going as soon as the ball was hit. It was just good hustle."

It was Tri-City's second win in as many outings. They beat Bethalto Monday 14-4.

Ficker's exploits occurred during the fourth inning. Tuesday, he reached second on a curving line drive down the right field line that shot past the right fielder inches fair.

Tri-City's catcher Mark Linhart then layed down a sacrifice bunt, moving Ficker to third. The decision may have seemed less than aggressive at the time, but Linhart was the number nine batter and the top of the order followed with Ficker at third.

The move payed off when Kevin Sykes, the next batter, hit a grounder to short.

Ficker left as the ball was hit. The shortstop, in his haste, fumbled the ball. Both runners were safe.

It was Tri-City's sixth and last run, the only extra run they would need for the win.

Tri-City's first five runs were not a result of spectacular hitting. Rather, Highland was responsible for many, as it helped Tri-City with seven errors.

"We didn't execute too well around second base," Champion said. But neither did Highland. "About four of five runs scored in the game probably shouldn't have," Champion said.

Tri-City jumped on top with a run in the first. It was one of those that probably shouldn't have scored. Sykes reached first via Highland's second baseman's error. He was sacrificed to second, moved to third on another error, then scored on Blake Ambuehl's infield out.

Highland came back quickly, scoring five times in the second. Two errors, a wild pitch, and a walk, coupled with four singles did the damage.

The hustle Champion talked about was evident in the Tri-City third, as it pined back to within one run of Highland. Sykes started the inning with a squibber to the second baseman. The fielder

Six GC players are named to All-Area team

GRANITE CITY — Six Granite Cityans have been named to the Illinois High School Baseball Coaches Association Area 6 (St. Louis) All-Area team.

Players from Granite City North's state tournament team who were named are: Tom Greco (second base), Bob Bates (shortstop), Mike Robertson (third base) and Steve Doty (pitcher).

Two players from Granite

City South's 20-8 squad were named. They were Jeff Parker (third base) and Jeff Treter (outfield).

Two players from each position were elected to the team. Other players named were: FIRST BASE — Scott Haberl (Dupo) and Brad Barton (Belleville West); SECOND BASE — Phil Conreux (Edwardsville); SHORTSTOP — Mark Hill (Belleville East); OUT-

Tom Greco: Not a typical second baseman

By KEVIN ALLEN
of the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY — Tom Greco was the final out for Granite City North in its quarter final state tournament loss to Oak Forest last Thursday. Walking to the dugout, he flung his helmet angrily at the fence.

It was an act of disappointment. Greco and the Steelers had come far since the beginning of a season in which they were expected to do little.

They came to Peoria, only to go down quickly in a close game. "Sure I was disappointed," Greco said. "I would have loved to have won the whole thing."

Greco was talking about the tournament a week after that final out. The week has given him some perspective. He's over the helmet-flinging stage.

"I'll always look back at the game and see things that could have gone differently," he said. "But it was something just getting that far."

Greco was one of only four seniors on the team, and he knew about disappointment. He had been on two North teams, football and basketball, that finished the season far below .500.

Greco said the baseball season made up for those other sports. "It would have been a lot tougher finishing the year without the baseball season we had," he said.

"After football (0-10) my head was hanging low, well not hanging low, but you know."

Football is probably Greco's best sport. He will be attending Southeastern Missouri State next year, "if nothing changes." He said he wasn't receiving a football scholarship though.

As of right now, Greco won't be playing baseball at SEMO, but that could change. His high school coach, Bob Stegemeier, is currently talking to coaches at SEMO about the possibility.

Greco said he developed a close relationship with Stegemeier while playing for North. "I think he did an excellent job," Greco said.

"He's the best baseball coach I've ever had. I'll have to hang out that might not change things."

With players like Greco, Stegemeier had ample talent to work with. Greco plays second base, but his statistics aren't typical of most second basemen. He led the Steelers in hitting all season long, and was among the top in hitting for the entire St. Louis area.

His name was included among all-star polls at the end of the season. He said the honor was especially gratifying.

This summer, Greco is playing American Legion baseball, along with about the entire Steeler team, for Glen Carbon.

But talking to Greco, you can sense a bit of apprehension, possibly stemming from the achievement of the North team, about the summer.

Greco said there was something about the legion team, something he couldn't explain that made him feel differently about it than his high school team.

"I don't see this team winning the championship," he said. "Even if it did it won't compare to the high school championship. It doesn't seem the same. It's just different."

Maybe the difference will be the uniforms. They won't be black and grey, and they won't have the word "Steelers" emblazoned on the front. After all, you're a high school senior only once.

TOM GRECO, second baseman for Glen Carbon Post 435's baseball team, throws out a runner Tuesday night against Marissa.

1979 Cougars' soccer slate may be the toughest ever

By AL BARNES
of the Press-Record
EDWARDSVILLE — The toughest and the longest soccer schedule ever played by Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville has been announced by the Cougars' coach, the veteran Bob Guelker, who introduced the sport to the new campus just three years after the University opened its doors in 1965.

In addition to two exhibition games, the Cougar kickers will open their season with a six-game invasion of the West Coast and Canada before classes open in late September.

The 19-game slate is almost twice as long as the Cougars played annually their first 10 seasons.

The SIUE kickers expect to be playing most of their home games under floodlights at Cougar Field. Ed Bigham, acting athletic director, announced, "We plan to install lights at Cougar Field in time for the upcoming season."

With nine returning starters from last year and some outstanding recruits signed, Guelker has taken on an awesome schedule, including three national defending champions:

No. 1 — The University of San Francisco Dons, the NCAA Division I titleholders. The Dons beat the Cougars in the finals at San Francisco two years ago, and SIUE lost to the Dons in the finals at Cougar Field in 1975.

No. 2 — Seattle Pacific College, NCAA Division II Champions.

No. 3 — Quincy College, the NAIA champions. "The public and student body will get their first look at the 1979 SIUE soccer team when the Blackpool, England kickers arrive for a Thursday night game, Aug. 30. Two nights later (Sept. 1), the Cougars will battle their alumni.

Less than a week later, the Cougars will be on the West Coast for six crucial games starting Sept. 7 against the Huskies of the U. of Washington.

There is more excitement in playing in the soccer league than normal on the SIUE campus as soccer fans in the St. Louis metropolitan area "lick their chops" in anticipation of the Cougars' upcoming season.

The combination of a talented Cougar squad and one of the toughest schedules ever made has the entire soccer community buzzing with excitement.

Here are the players Guelker has returning:

At the wings, it'll be Jeff Caciulore and Matt Malloy, both extremely good at feeding the ball to the Cougars' top scorer these past two years, Don Ebert, at the center forward slot. The trailing striker working in unison with All-American Ebert is Guelker's slim and wiry son, Tim Guelker. Ebert led the Cougars in '78 with 22 points (16 goals and 6 assists). Young Guelker posted 16 points (eight goals and eight assists).

In the middle, there are the hard-nosed veterans Bob Bozada and Dave Hummert, both of whom are capable of scoring when the defense concentrates on either Ebert or Guelker.

Friendships span half century

The fifty-year reunion of the 1929 Granite High graduates was a happy occasion at Charlie's. Twenty-six class members with wives and husbands made up a group of 44. Identifying classmates not seen for many years was the pastime of the evening, and a spirit of fun and friendship prevailed as they recounted old times.

One member who for many years had not seen fellows with whom he had close ties in high school wanted to know which ones they were. In turn they could not identify him although they had been anxious to see him. In a few minutes, all were again school comrades thoroughly enjoying each other's conversation.

Class members and spouses included: Ralph Elam from Oceanide, Calif.; Lester Schaefer from Las Vegas, Nev.; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Williams (Blanche England) from Waco, Tex.; and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Parsons (Mary Segar Evans) of Balch Springs, Tex. Missourians included Joseph Kurre, Cape Girardeau; Mr. and Mrs. William Charbonnier, Lake St. Louis; Mr. and Mrs. Dale Little, Sullivan; Mr. and Mrs. William Ogden (Pearl L. Austin), Bowling Green; and Mrs. Frank Henson (Nada Grammaticoff), Normandy. Residents of Illinois included Dr. and Mrs. Herbert Dexheimer and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Loman, Belleville; Mr.

Walter Grondona (Charlotte Booth), Highland; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph LeVora (Dorothy Krauskoff), Greenfield; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dewey and Mrs. Stephen Owsley (Gladys Folks), Alton; Col. and Mrs. James Lynch, Edwardsville, and Alex Markuly, Madison. Local residents present were Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Fildes (Evelyn Gray), Mr. and Mrs. Harry Thurau, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Steele (Helen Morgan), Lucy Vartanian, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Grammer, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Baker, Mr. and Mrs. John Harsh (Ella Mae Niepert), Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lewis (Hildred Veatch) and Selma Nelson.

Railroad mergers called essential

Railroad deregulation measures proposed by the U.S. Department of Transportation represent "no solution to our rail transportation problems" and "would inflict harm on the railroads that would far outweigh any benefits to be gained," the head of a major railroad has testified before a congressional subcommittee.

"The industry has many needs," John P. Fishwick, president and chief executive officer of Norfolk and Western Railway, said. "At the top of the list is the elimination of governmental right-of-way subsidization for our competitors."

"In addition, mergers must be made to permit rationalization of the rail network. Until we have reduced the number of railroads into a limited number of systems, major deregulation would be a disastrous mistake."

Fishwick told the Transportation and Commerce Subcommittee of the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee that the heart of the proposed deregulation bill, rate deregulation, won't help railroads.

In order for railroads' return on investment to reach adequate levels, he said, rates would have to be increased by 13 percent nationally. "Such rate increases cannot be achieved because of pervasive truck and barge competition," he said.

The major reason for railroads' financial problems is not excessive regulation, he said, but rather government subsidization of competitive transportation modes. "Railroad competitors continue to enjoy the benefits of subsidized rights-of-way in the form of public highways for motor carriers and inland waterways for water carriers."

"Because railroads must build and maintain their rights-of-way at substantial expense, competing transportation modes enjoy an unfair cost advantage in this area," he said.

Fishwick said the proposed deregulation bill would:

—Offer some flexibility in rate-making, but at too high a price. "It would eliminate the railroad industry's ability to make general rate increases, which is the only reasonable way for railroads to cope with the high inflation rate, and yet would retain tight regulatory restraints over many railroad rate-making practices," Fishwick asserted.

"Polish railroads' right to set joint rates for shipments that move over more than one carrier's lines, creating chaos in the handling of such traffic, which accounts for 70 percent of all rail freight traffic. "The measure would have an adverse impact on shippers, and the effect on small railroads would be disastrous," he said.

"because it would allow the larger railroads to take all the traffic that currently can move over the long-haul railroad or over several connecting lines."

Eliminate Interstate Commerce Commission jurisdiction over the interchange of freight cars between railroads, substituting an arrangement under which the railroads themselves would control car rental rates and car movements. "There are too many railroads with too great a variance in their viewpoints for such a system to work," he said.

"Dash the hopes of the railroad industry for future mergers, thus eliminating the industry's best hope of reducing excess trackage and minimizing capital demands."

"The proposed bill would transfer jurisdiction of railroad mergers from the ICC to the Justice Department, which can be expected to be hostile to most major rail mergers because they might slightly lessen competition between railroads, even though they would on balance be strongly in the public interest."

12 candidates for vacant judgeships

The circuit judges in the Third Judicial Circuit of Madison and Bond counties have completed their voting on 12 candidates for two vacant associate judgeships in the circuit, and the ballots are to be tabulated by Roy Guiley, administrator for the state courts.

Twelve applicants licensed to practice law in the circuit applied for the posts developing July 1. The vacancies will exist because the circuit judges voted last month not to retain Associate Judges Clayton Williams of Alton and Thomas Gibbons of Edwardsville in their $45,000 per year posts.

Williams has applied for consideration for reappointment, but Gibbons has decided not to attempt to retain the post.

Applicants, besides Judge Williams, include Amerik

Kachigan, Vahog "Bob" Francis, all of Granite City, and Steve Maragides of Madison.

Kachigan is a previous assistant state's attorney and a public defender. Maragides is the brother of Associate Judge A.A. "Andy" Matoesian, and Francis was an associate judge until resigning two years ago to return to private practice. Maragides is a former assistant U.S. attorney and assistant state's attorney. He is now with the Illinois Department of Revenue.

Other applicants are Robert Heintz, Roy Burroughs and Jonathan Isbell, all of Collinsville, Richard Billeaud of Glen Carbon, Lola Maddox of Alton and Douglas Marti and Charles Romani Jr., both of Greenville.

House OKs higher interest for port

The Illinois House of Representatives Friday approved and sent to the governor three bills increasing the allowable interest rate on bonds to be sold by the Tri-City Regional Port Authority.

"I feel this is very important legislation for operation of the port authority in Granite City," State Rep. Sam Wolf (D-Granite City), told the Press-Record.

The new legislation, if signed by the governor, will allow interest rates of up to 10 percent on revenue bonds and eight percent on general obligation bonds.

Also Friday, the House approved Senate Bill 165 making it a misdemeanor offense for altering or falsifying campaign disclosure act information for the purpose of distributing erroneous information.

If signed by the governor, the bill will outlaw the use of false information about candidates on campaign literature or other documents, if the false information is said to have come from the campaign disclosure act, statements on file with the county clerk or the state board of elections.

Port Authority Board Secretary Carl Ranft said the legislation will enable the port district "to meet our competition on rates for whatever project might come in." He said limitations on bond interest have put the port district at a disadvantage in attracting new customers to the local port and to the new foreign trade zone.

Graduates urged to stress public interest

More than 2,000 graduates of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville were told Friday night that the wisest investment they can make is "to give the better parts of yourselves to the public interest."

Rainy weather caused the graduation exercises to be held indoors.

In a charge to the class of annual commencement ceremonies, Dr. Kenneth A. Shaw, SIUE president, said, "The only way to protect our personal interests is to give of ourselves to the public interest. The shape of the future is very much up to each of you."

The president cited the recipients of the university's honorary degrees and distinguished service awards as examples of persons who have invested wisely in the future.

Recognized were R. Buckminster Fuller of Philadelphia and Charles Guenther of St. Louis, who received honorary doctorates, and Karl Monroe, editor of the Collinsville Herald, and C. Kenneth Anderson of Highland, president of Artex International, Inc., who received the university's distinguished service award.

Dr. Shaw urged the graduates to keep four concerns "in the forefront of your minds":

"First, explore broader human horizons, outside and beyond yourselves, leading to an appreciation of the larger good."

"Second, by active involvement, make government, even in its bureaucratic manifestations, work better."

"Third, commit yourself to voluntary action in attacking social problems and fostering the public welfare wherever you see that such efforts can be caring and effective in ways public agencies never can be."

"Finally, accept the fact that with excellence of achievement comes the responsibility for leadership, and use all the means I have just enumerated to develop humane and sensitive skills that will inspire your followers."

Citing Fuller's achievements in the energy area, Dr. Shaw labeled the famous inventor and philosopher "a prophet in his own time. He has already discovered a variety of options that will help portend a decent future for mankind."

The president added that Fuller, an SIUE University Professor Emeritus, "is an inspiration to us all."

Dr. Shaw warned that the nation is witnessing an epidemic of "raw, blind, selfishness" which puts the focus on "me first."

He emphasized, "And not simply first, but first, last and always." The president said selfishness is evident in the decline in private volunteerism in church, community and civic endeavors.

"Some in our society are so tuned into a 'me-first' attitude that they won't even bother to vote," he said. "They ask, 'Why vote unless I can see some immediate good for me in doing so?'"

The president continued, "Certain exponents of the so-called 'tax revolt' are radical individualists who would insist that every issue involving taxation should be measured by 'what's in it for me?'"

"The impact of drastic public cost-cutting as espoused by the 'tax revolt' is the assumption that all 'frills' should be eliminated. That only those who receive benefits should pay."

"It is not a far step to viewing such things as libraries, serious music, the arts, athletics that don't bring in heavy television revenues, and dramatic productions that can't pay the full expense of production as 'frills.'"

Dr. Shaw said it is such things as the so-called "frills" that hold together "the frail bonds of a society and help to create congenial citizens with humane generous of spirit."

Describing the "sad, lonely, picture" of people resorting to violence to get gasoline in California, Dr. Shaw offered the graduates "a more balanced, hopeful picture for the future—a future that all of us will bear as a major responsibility for making."

"First of all," he said, "there is neither hope nor happiness for those who cannot find a way to involve themselves in the larger good. In our minds, we must understand, and in our hearts, we must be committed to the insuring of the larger good that lies beyond our immediate desires and concerns."

"With this saner, more balanced view comes that state of human growth we call maturity."

The president praised Monroe and Anderson for helping make the university what it is today.

"As a professional journalist of the highest level of expertise and public commitment, Karl Monroe was indeed one of the pioneers who helped make this university a reality. He also contributed to our maturity by offering honest, forthright criticism, always constructive, ever clear."

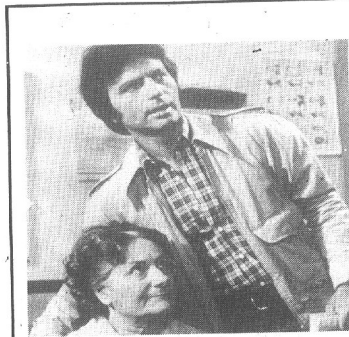

"In Ken Anderson, we have a dedicated citizen who has been a driving business success. In him we see the time-honored American virtues of enterprise and ambition, offering shrewd business sense and unflagging energy to every activity he undertakes. In a wide variety of ways, he represents that abiding spirit of volunteerism in the private sector that is essential if our society is to survive."

Also citing Guenther, a nationally acclaimed poet, "for his long labor in the culture of this community with a spirit of humane sensitivity to the common threads of concern," President Shaw said:

"With such leaders, we can gradually reduce our dependence on governmental action for the solution of all problems and guide it toward those concerns it is best designed to deal with."

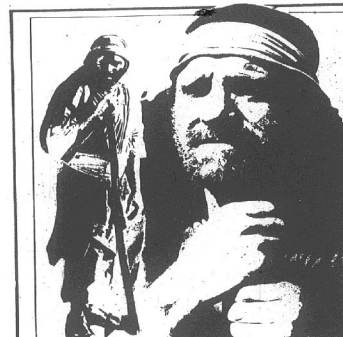

"Literate graduates, with powers of judgement and reflection, informed by a sense of history, will bring a new leavening to the system."

"In short, the good news is that America will see the quality of our life improving as we work together as concerned citizens to make this small part of the world, our part, better for all who inhabit it."

Energy called top issue facing state

The Illinois 2000 Board Trustees has adopted 50 goals for Illinois' long-range economic development.

The goals were first developed by over 250 participants at Illinois 2000's Statewide Goals Conference held in Peoria in February.

Based on discussion at the conference and comments received since then, the goals were clarified and reorganized into their final form.

Illinois 2000 is now in the process of mass producing copies of the goals for statewide distribution.

The people of the state will be informed of the goals' contents during this public information program. A response form will be provided so they can add their thoughts to Illinois 2000's growing bank of implementation ideas, plans, and resource persons.

After the Illinois 2000 Statewide Goals Conference, the first revised set of goals was sent to all the participants. They were asked to choose the ten goals most important to the state.

Based on the 122 responses received, the following ten goals emerged as the priorities for the program.

Increase the use of Illinois coal and nuclear power consistent with protection of the environment; increase development and use of alternative energy sources; expand energy conservation programs.

Improve Illinois' economic investment climate. Improve the economies of older urban centers.

Preserve prime agricultural land. Increase productivity in both public and private sectors.

Ensure a balanced and flexible tax system with fiscally and socially responsible tax incentives. long-term, comprehensive intermodal transportation plan.

Identify trade-offs between environmental standards and economic development.

Emphasize retention and expansion of existing firms through industrial development programs, and locate new jobs to serve areas of high unemployment.

Meet national environmental goals through a state plan which is consistent with the character and needs of Illinois.

Japan mission termed success

(Tri-City Regional Port) Governor James Thompson of the State of Illinois led a delegation to Japan to interest Japanese companies in locating and investing in the state.

Sub-delegations from Chicago, Kankakee, and St. Louis participated in the mission in an effort to make their respective areas known to Japanese firms.

Tri-City Port and the Regional Commerce and Growth Association (RCGA) cooperated in the trip to interest companies in the St. Louis area and Tri-City Port in particular.

George Andres of Tri-City Port and Jim Holdreath and Joe de Rota of RCGA arrived in Tokyo on May 15 and had a series of meetings with manufacturers, banks and trading companies.

Eric Robertson of Tri-City Port, Edward Schnuck, chairman of RCGA, Jim O'Flynn, president of RCGA, and Carl Mathias, RCGA board member, arrived on May 18 for further meetings.

In discussions of the advantages of locating in the St. Louis area, the main points emphasized were our strategic location with respect to U.S. markets, geographic location, excellent transportation and distribution facilities, Foreign Trade Zone space, a major metropolitan area of 2.5 million people, skilled labor force, the availability of land, and Tri-City Port's ability to make attractive and complete development proposals.

In all, 26 companies were contacted by the St. Louis delegation, most of them multinational in scope.

Some of the general concerns expressed by the Japanese companies were the fluctuating dollar-to-yen ratio and present U.S. State and Commerce Department initiatives to balance trade between the U.S. and Japan.

The mission is considered to be highly successful by those involved.

Although the Japanese decision process is quite long, it is expected that interest in our area will be forthcoming.

Since returning, we have been contacted by one of the companies, a large equipment company, requesting a development proposal.

1979 CWA JOB PRESSURES

June 15, 1979

CWA members everywhere—whether in the public or private sector—suffer from job pressures... pressures that exact a toll on both the worker and his or her family and friends. Some members complain of over-supervision... some complain of forced overtime... some complain of unfair absence control programs... and some complain of speed ups, work indexes and "dead end" jobs.

Job pressures have existed for many years, and many workers feel that these pressures are on the increase in our modern busy, hectic, highly technological society.

Managers and supervisors—in short, the "bosses"—ignore workers that react from job pressures. Managers and supervisors bury their heads in the sand, hoping the problem will disappear.

CWA knows the problem will not just go away—and that is why we will take our case on job pressures to the public beginning June 15, 1979.

We in CWA are going to let the world know that "We are people, not machines."

Motorcycle safety class

With increasing gasoline shortages and skyrocketing prices, more and more people are turning to alternative kinds of transportation, according to Belleville Area College.

"What is the accident rate going to be when every Tom, Dick and Harry begins to ride a motorcycle?", BAC has been asked.

It hopes that with the combined efforts of the state's safety organizations, various educational centers and motorcycle dealers, the casualty rate may be less than it has been with automobiles.

SU at Carbondale and Belleville Area College are working with state offices and with the dealers to provide free motorcycle safety courses.

A class has just started at the Carlyle Avenue campus of BAC and another is scheduled to begin July 2. The class includes 20 hours of instruction — eight in the classroom and 12 on the bikes.

Those who already ride will be given a chance to improve their skills.

All who complete the course will receive a completion card from the Motorcycle Safety Foundation. That card is honored by most major insurance companies for a premium discount on cycle insurance. Information is available from Don Parrone (235-3535) or John Budeker (277-4832).

ON STATE BOARD

Lauck of Granite City, Manager of AAA Credit Service, 1904A Delmar Ave., has been installed as a member of the board of directors of the Illinois Collectors' Association at their annual convention in Peoria. WGNU-FM name change is rejected

The Federal Communications Commission by a 5-0 vote Thursday rejected a petition by Doubleday Broadcasting to change the name of WGNU-FM in Granite City to WKW-FM. The new owner had sought to change the call letters to match its AM radio station in St. Louis.

Stations opposing the change included KSD. Doubleday is opposing allowing KSD-TV to become KSDT. The television station must change its name because it no longer is owned by the same company as KSD Radio.

WGNU-FM was sold by Charles Norman, who continues to own WGNU-AM. The FCC commissioners told Doubleday that although it owns both WKW-AM and WGNU-FM, they are in different geographic areas and there is a rule against such stations sharing the same call letters.

Communications topic of national secretaries; officers installed

"You and Your Communications Choices" was the topic chosen by Dr. Joseph Munshaw of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville for the June dinner meeting of the Tri-Cities Chapter, National Secretaries Association International, held Thursday night at Charlie's Restaurant.

Dr. Munshaw stressed the three key words of "be," "do," and "have," and said that in order to be somebody, an individual first must have certain things, such as talent or desire, then do certain things, such as secure an education in his chosen field.

Health, happiness, giving and receiving love and the opportunity to express themselves are the four basic things that people want out of life, according to Dr. Munshaw. He said the secret to getting what one wants is also the one secret of effectively communicating with people—give up being right. "If you can let the other person be right, you can get what you want. When people are not under pressure, they are much more cooperative," he told the group.

Installation of new officers by President Joyce Savich followed Dr. Munshaw's presentation. Chosen to guide the chapter for 1979-80 were Charlie Vunovic, president; Kathy Jones Voegel, vice-president; Lou Hemming, corresponding secretary; Nancy Bezan, recording secretary; Sally Gracey, treasurer; Peggy

More and Elaine Goetting, board members at large.

Having met the qualifications for full NSA membership, Elaine Goetting was presented with her NSA membership pin. Elaine, a former officer of Granite City High School-South Future Secretaries Association, is the third former FSA member to become associated with the group, joining Nancy Bezan and Kathy Jones in full membership. Elaine is a secretary at Ralston Purina Company in St. Louis.

Helen Gieszelmann reminded the members that Tuesday, July 24, is the night they will attend the Municipal Opera as a group to see "The Desert Song" and she encouraged them to bring friends and to turn in their money as soon as possible.

President Vunovic read letters of appreciation from FSA faculty adviser at Granite City High School-North, Linda Haddox, and Past FSA Corresponding Secretary Sharon Sackett, thanking the members for their time and guidance.

Twilda Edmonds, secretary of the year distributed point sheets covering April through June, and explained the events which should be reported for points.

Kathy Jones, who became Mrs. Mark Voegel on Saturday, was extended best wishes by the members, and also congratulated for having sat for the two-day Professional Secretary examination. Results will be announced in August.

The president advised that the names of all members would be submitted to TWA for the purpose of becoming TWA Ambassadors Associates. The next regular meeting of the Tri-Cities Chapter, NSA, is scheduled Thursday, Aug. 2. A new membership drive, concentrating on high school graduates in their first secretarial position as well as past NSA members, will be put into effect this month. All interested prospective members may contact Helen Gieszelmann, membership chairman, at the home, 931-2665, or office, 451-9880 or President Charlie Vunovic, home phone 451-4878, or office 314-342-6101, according to a NSA members.

Madison school may not be ready by new term

There is a good possibility that Madison's new middle school now under construction will not be completed in time for opening at the beginning of the new school term in September, which will result in continued split shifts in the junior high school, the Madison Board of Education was told in a meeting Thursday night.

Board members agreed there is no way to determine at this point whether the school will be completed in time for the new term, but Assistant Superintendent

Wade James conceded there is a possibility the work will not be done by that time. The board members approved the Gifted Program for the 1979-80 fiscal year, a routine procedure in which the board acts on the program each year. The Gifted Program, according to Mrs. Marguerite Connole, had an enrollment of 71 during the past school year and expects 73 to enroll in the 1979-80 year.

Mrs. Connole, assistant curriculum director, reported to the board that many school officials hope to avoid the middle school becoming a mini-high school, so that students may be exposed to as many cultural experiences as possible in that age group. The board approved the hiring of Barbara Cox as an assistant lab manager, and Mrs. Perrol Rockett as a cook.

A proposal that the board minutes hereafter contain an explanation of why a board member is absent was made by Board Member Elvers Johnson who said that when important decisions are made, the public should be aware of the reason for the absence of any members. The board considered a suggestion that the absence of one or more members be entered in the minutes as excusable if the member notifies the board of his intended absence before the meeting.

Paul Bargiel, a member of the board, noted that because of the number of meetings held by the School Board there is no way to avoid time conflicts in many instances.

Work here by nation's 14th largest managers

McCarthy Brothers Company, St. Louis, now ranks number 14 among the nation's 50 largest construction management (CM) firms. The ranking was accorded by Engineering News-Record Magazine in its recent report on the top construction management companies.

The rankings are based on fees billed for professional CM services in 1978. All McCarthy Construction Management is performed by the McBRO Planning and Development Division, which is currently managing the expansion of St.

Elizabeth Medical Center in Granite City. McCarthy Brothers, with over 115 years of experience in construction, has projects in both the U.S. and foreign countries.

The Midwest-based construction firm has built hundreds of projects, including office buildings, hospitals, hotels, warehouses, high-rise apartments and educational facilities. Home offices are in St. Louis, with additional offices in Atlanta, Ga., Phoenix, Ariz., and Jeddah, Saudi Arabia.

Two degrees to Marsha Smith

It may have been the most unusual commencement ceremony that the 843 students who graduated this spring from Southeast Missouri state University (Cape Girardeau) will ever participate in or observe.

Among them was Marsha J. Smith, 3216 Edgewood ave., who received two degrees. The outdoor program was barely under way when an isolated shower which had blown up quickly sent graduates and spectators alike scurrying for cover.

President Robert Leestamper attempted to instruct the graduates to reconvene in Houck Field House, but the rain had caused the public address system to short out.

In addition, the scheduled speaker had a plane to catch and couldn't wait around for the end of the "rain delay."

Eventually, most of the 787 undergraduates and 56 graduate students, many of them thoroughly drenched, found their way into the field house where greatly abbreviated ceremonies were held.

Marsha Smith received a bachelor of general studies degree, plus an associate of applied science in computer science.

ELECT JOYCE SIKORA

The 1979-80 officers for the Metropolitan St. Louis Chapter of the International Word Processing Association were installed at a dinner meeting June 7. They include a director at large, Joyce Sikora of Granite City Steel. After the installation of officers, there were roundtable discussions on introducing and maintaining productive word processing centers.

RESCUE OPERATIONS in progress at the scene of a Monday afternoon accident two blocks north of Pontoon Road on Highway 111. Jeff Barreau, 24, of St. Louis, was trapped in his car for approximately 30 minutes as Long Lake Fire Department personnel assisted by Pontoon Beach Police worked to free him. At left, the victim is covered with a white sheet and protected from glass and flying debris by a volunteer fireman, at center with clear mask, as other firemen fold back the top of the car after it was cut off, using the Hurst tool. At lower left, a Pontoon Beach policeman inspects the car and victim in a ditch after the car left the roadway while traveling south. Below, fire department personnel prepare to use the Hurst tool which was used to cut open the top of the car to aid in the rescue. Barreau suffered a broken nose and fracture to his right upper leg. He was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center where he was treated and later admitted.

Celebrating her fifth birthday, Amy Isenburg invited guests to a "big top" party at her parents' home in Granite City. In the center ring was the big wheel rally, which included four main attractions: a backward wheel race, bombs away toss, tightrope road course, and acrobatic braking point.

Serving as ringmaster at the party last week was the honoree's brother, Jeffrey. Prizes were awarded in the order of points scored.

Circus music and blow-up animals added to the theme. Each guest was served a clown ice cream cone and clown cake. Gifts were opened under the patio big top.

Those attending included Stephen Blind, Larry Jo Curry, Cindy Douglas, Kathy Engelage, Jeff Isenburg and Lynn Yehling. Mrs. Donna Yehling and Karen helped.

Later that evening, a family celebration included Amy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Isenburg, her grandmother, Mrs. Marie Isenburg, and her brother, Jeffrey.

Meeting on nutrition and immunization

The Madison County Local Impact Committee of the Greater St. Louis Health Systems Agency will meet Tuesday, June 19, at 7 p.m. at Wood River Township Hospital, on Edwardsville Road in Wood River. The meeting is free and open to the public.

June Bundy, a registered dietician, will make a presentation about inadequate nutrition and its effects on the poor and near poor in Madison County. She will discuss ways to alleviate the problem.

Joe Mueller of the HSA staff will discuss an HSA project to study obstacles to consumer utilization of health services. Mueller will also present the committee with outlines for a possible project on immunizations.

The Madison County Local Impact Committee is a subgroup of the Greater St. Louis Health Systems Agency, which is the official health planning and health resource development agency for Madison, St. Clair, Clinton and Monroe counties in Illinois and four counties and the City of St. Louis in Missouri.

"The committees provide an opportunity for any interested resident to become involved at a local level in addressing health problems identified by the Health Systems Agency in its five year plan for improving health care in the region. Staff support is provided by the Health Systems Agency in assisting residents in addressing these health problems."

Cyclist is hurt in hit-run crash

Michael Logan, 22, of 113 Allen St., Eagle Park Acres, was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center last week after his motorcycle was struck by a car and then hit a fence in Eagle Park Acres.

Logan said he was riding east on Hill Street and was turning right at the curve when a car speeding south on Carver Street hit the left side of his motorcycle, forcing it into the fence.

The driver of the car said he couldn't stay because he had no driver's license and then left the scene. He drove a red 1968 Pontiac Bonneville, Logan said.

Boy handcuffed to tree rescued by Explorers

By MICK STRANGE
of the Press-Record

A 14-year-old Collinsville youth was rescued at 1 p.m. Sunday by three members of Explorer Post 10-33, sponsored by the Granite City police department.

As a result of a unique series of events, Tony C. White, 22, and his brother, William C. White, 18, both of Collinsville, have been charged by Illinois State Police with assault and have been released on $1,000 cash bonds.

The three local Explorers were on their way to do some target shooting. As they were setting up targets at a level one-half mile east of Sand Prairie Lane on Bischoff Road, they heard someone calling for help, they reported.

From the top of the levee they saw the 14-year-old, naked and handcuffed to a tree.

Two of the Explorers stayed with the youth as the third Explorer went to a nearby farm house and called state police.

When a state trooper arrived, he unlocked the handcuffs, let the victim get dressed and then questioned the boy.

A state police spokesman said the youth appeared not to have been harmed and the officer complimented the Police Explorers for the way they handled the situation.

The motive for the incident is under investigation and police would not speculate or comment.

One of the Explorers commented the 14-year-old was very frightened and alleged that the White brothers had shot over his head in an effort to scare him into telling them about the theft of items belonging to them.

Conservation Corps hiring on Friday

At least 10 young men and women will be hired by the Illinois Young Adult Conservation Corps to supplement a work crew employed last year to work in Pere Marquette State Park, Grafton.

The corps is patterned after the Civilian Conservation Corps of the 1930s.

Applicants for the full-time, year-around conservation jobs must be 16 to 23 years of age, be out of work and no longer in school. They should apply June 15 between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. at the state's Job Service Center, 88 N. Port Drive, Alton.

Nate Frison, camp director of the corps' Area V, said they will be put to work at the park on such projects as reconstruction of picnic shelters, assembly of bird houses and restoration of cabins.

The corps is a federally-funded program administered by the Illinois Department of Conservation.

Designed to provide conservation jobs for unemployed youths, the program has hired more than 1,300 young people statewide since its inception in May 1978.

In addition to conservation work, the crews also help out in emergency situations, such as during the heavy winter snows and spring flooding.

THEFT FROM TRUCK

A $325 booster for a CB radio and a $98 radio were stolen from the truck of Bill Edwards, Kansas City, Mo., parked in the 2700 block of Kirkpatrick Homes, last week. Edwards said the CB radio was left in the truck, but was held in the dashboard by only one screw after the other fasteners were removed.

Golden opportunity for permanent day college here

When the state was in the process of authorizing new community college districts, some wondered whether the Quad-City area should establish its own college. That did not prove feasible, but the local community now is in a position to have a daytime college center—as well as the existing Belleville Area College night instructional programs that are located in the Granite City, Venice and Madison school districts.

BAC is establishing daytime (9 a.m. to 4 p.m.) classes for the 1979-80 year at Washington School, 2600 West 20th Street, and the extent to which this center is utilized will have a major effect on its permanence.

Registration for the fall day classes in Granite City can be completed at any time between now and the start of the new term, by contacting the main BAC campus at 2500 Carlyle Road, Belleville. Telephone registration will be available from July 30 to Aug. 10.

Prospective college students will be able to register at Washington School between 9 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. July 30 through Aug. 14. Those who will be registering for English or mathematics courses for the first time are to take the placement tests and have their registration confirmed by a counselor prior to official registration.

In partial response to the need for gasoline conservation, BAC is bringing to the Washington building in 1979-80 a complete schedule of basic freshman courses along with some sophomore classes. Students will be able to obtain all of their first-year general courses here except for laboratory sciences. And they will be able to take the evening classes regularly taught in Granite City once a week from 7 to 9:45, if they wish, in addition to enrolling for day classes.

Monday-Wednesday classes at Washington this fall will include cultural anthropology, understanding the arts, accounting I, personnel management, business communication, writing lab, introduction to sociology, rhetoric and composition I, health, emergency medical technician, American literature, intermediate algebra, introduction to philosophy, social problems and fundamentals of public speaking.

Tuesday-Thursday classes here will be business mathematics, introduction to business, introduction to marketing, real estate transactions, data processing, educational psychology, rhetoric and composition, history of the U.S. to 1972, health, medical terminology, basic mathematics concepts I, college algebra, introduction to American government, general psychology, applied psychology and fundamentals of public speaking.

One-day-a-week classes will be elementary French on Fridays, medical terminology Mondays or Wednesdays, and co-ed dance Tuesdays.

First-time students will pay a one-time-only application fee of $10, and tuition for local residents is $14 per credit hour plus a $1 per credit hour student services fee. Total tuition, fees and book costs are estimated at $300 per semester for full-time students, a tremendous bargain in view of the costs at most colleges.

A comprehensive program is being planned, not a token offering of classes. It can be a big asset for the local community, if Quad-Cityans show they want it by signing up.

Flag Day spotlights enduring values of truth, justice

On Flag Day, being observed today the following comments are appropriate. They were voiced in a 1941 talk at Fisk University, Nashville, Tenn., by John D. Rockefeller Jr.:

I believe in the supreme worth of the individual and in his right to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness.

I believe that every right implies a responsibility; every opportunity, an obligation; every possession, a duty.

I believe that the law was made for man and not man for the law; that government is the servant of the people and not the people of government.

I believe in the dignity of labor, whether with head or hand; that the world owes no man a living but that it owes every man an opportunity to make a living.

I believe that thrift is essential to well ordered living and that economy is a prime requisite of a sound financial structure, whether in government, business or personal affairs.

I believe that truth and justice are fundamental to an enduring social order.

I believe in the sacredness of a promise, that a man's word should be as good as his bond; that character—not wealth or power or position—is of supreme worth.

I believe that the rendering of useful service is the common duty of mankind and that only in the purifying fire of sacrifice is the dross of selfishness consumed and the greatness of the human soul set free.

I believe in an all-wise and all-loving God, named by whatever name, and that the individual's highest fulfillment, greatest happiness, and widest usefulness are to be found in living in harmony with His will.

I believe that love is the greatest thing in the world; that it alone can overcome hate; that right can and will triumph over might.

Says judge didn't back lawyer

To the Editor:

The mysterious saga of Judge Gibbons and Judge Williams (not reappointed as associate judges) keeps popping up. Which means that everyone is confused—including the two judges themselves. Now comes the put it all in perspective.

Judge Gibbons has been "shot down" by his own colleagues (lawyers)—former buddies, pals, aspirants to the throne of judgeship, backslapping, backslapping.

Why? Judge Gibbons has always, to my knowledge, considered people equal (lawyers excluded). He ruled justly, squarely, righteously, whether a person was represented by a lawyer or not.

Now picture this situation: Mr. Citizen takes his case to court without a lawyer. The other side has a lawyer.

Judge Gibbons sees two opposing views between two people. He rules in favor of Mr. Citizen, because he is deserving.

Mr. Lawyer cannot comprehend this—justice, fairness. How is the average lawyer going to cope with this?

This is the beginning of the end, Judge Gibbons has to go. He is expected to remember his humble start as a struggling lawyer. He is expected to discourage appearances in court by upstart citizens who wish to represent themselves.

Justice is going too far to the right. A judge used to be a lawyer, so why can't he act like a lawyer after he becomes a judge?

This is a common tenet espoused by the legal profession, and generally adhered to by most present-day judges.

Judge Gibbons believes all people deserve a fair trial. Seems like some other good men thought this way, and now they are gone, too.

Judge Gibbons has undermined the pitiful bulwark of the Bar Association. It is insurmountable for a little lawyer to grasp equality, too much. Now we suffer through the clandestine meetings and eventual ouster of Judge Gibbons.

He doesn't fit the old. He is costing these men too much. They would have to think for themselves in the court, and that is asking too much.

So many of these legal "brains" have no further qualifications for their job than to say their fathers were lawyers, and so they had to keep it in the family. I seem to have forgotten the sad tale of Judge Williams. His qualification is that he is black, and Benjamin Hooks and the federal government are always around to remind us of this. Actually, he is the lawyers' best friend.

REINHARDT—Realtor
Sells—BETTER LIVING

Electricity—next shortage?

Wall Street Journal—As followers of the twists and turns of federal energy policy know, our government means for coal to be the fuel of the future, with utilities and industry converting out of oil and gas and into this plentiful resource.

The President's 1977 National Energy Plan called for U.S. coal production to climb 80 percent over the next 15 years.

To speed the switchover, Congress last year passed the Coal Conversion Act, requiring use of coal in industry where the change could be made without undue hardship.

So, it may come as a surprise to hear that Consolidation Coal Co., a Conoco subsidiary, has just closed one mine in Ohio and reduced the workforce at another.

Or perhaps as a greater surprise to learn that U.S. coal production has hardly budged since 1977.

Or that the coal industry has excess capacity of over 100 million tons a year.

The key reason is that coal, like nuclear energy, is badly tangled in the web of environmental policy.

The Ohio cutbacks give some clue as to how tangled the web has become. In 1977, the federal Environmental Protection Agency, frustrated by Ohio's delay in instituting pollution controls, took the matter into its own hands and ordered eight Ohio utilities to meet federal sulfur dioxide emission standards.

The utilities responded by buying less Ohio coal, which contains a high level of sulfur and requires expensive "scrubbing," and by purchasing more out-of-state, low-sulfur coal.

But this threat to the jobs of Ohio miners was brought to the attention of Ohio Senator Howard M. Metzenbaum, who urged the energy up to that point was mainly limited to his efforts to discourage domestic oil and gas production.

He and three other coal-state senators succeeded in writing some hoped-for legislation in the Clean Air Act. They were joined, interestingly enough, by environmentalists intent on discouraging Western strip mining of low-sulfur coal.

The legislation grants the EPA authority to order major coal users, such as utilities, to buy "regionally available" coal and, if necessary, to install air-pollution equipment—as long as it can be shown that the use of coal from outside the region would contribute to significant economic disruption or unemployment in nearby coal fields.

Except there was no very clear definition of "regionally available." Of Ohio miners take "region" to mean within the state's borders, but miners in neighboring Kentucky and West Virginia, where supplies of low-sulfur coal can be found, disagree.

A federal court in Kentucky earlier this month upheld the constitutionality of the restriction but it didn't attempt to define what "regionally available" means.

The court suggested that the plaintiffs "address themselves to the political process" for a remedy.

That leaves the all back in the EPA's court, but the agency says I don't know when a decision will be reached.

It is such a preliminary investigation found "economic disruption" in the area, and, if finalized, would require Ohio utilities to burn indigenous high-sulfur coal and to install scrubbers.

Utilities in Ohio, which happens to be the nation's largest coal consuming state, estimate that the cost of buying and operating scrubbers will be $1 billion annually for years to come, a bill that would be footed by Ohio's electricity consumers.

Such a decision by the EPA would also reduce the incentive to develop low-sulfur coal reserves in the West.

As it happens, the administration is scheduled to make a decision on a national sulfur dioxide emissions policy for large, stationary, fossil-fueled, utility steam generating units.

This decision, as with the Metzenbaum amendment, will be tangled in regional and environmental politics. Senate Majority Leader Robert Byrd is pushing heavy pressure on the president to set a standard that would permit continued use of high-sulfur coal.

Environmentalists are threatening to sue the EPA if the administration opts for the kind of weak standard Sen. Byrd would like.

Meanwhile, the administration's coal conversion policy is a beached whale. No one is in a hurry to convert out of oil until they find out what the rules will be or where the coal will come from.

Some users of heavy fuel oil, also subject to sulfur standards, are cutting it with middle distillates contributed to the shortage of home heating oil, diesel fuel and gasoline.

The utilities are warning that unless someone exercises some leadership, people will be lining up for electricity, as well as for coal, in the 1980s. Coal faces a clouded future indeed.

Kennedy, the non-candidate

By JOHN TORINUS

Sen. Ted Kennedy is not yet a candidate for the presidency in 1980, but he is carefully positioning himself to be available should Jimmy Carter's renomination become anything less than a certainty.

Kennedy addressed the American Society of Newspaper Editors at their 1979 annual meeting in New York and he sounded very much like a candidate.

He called for a rededication of America to meet the challenges of the 1980s. He likened it to the challenges which faced us in the '60s—the time, of course, when his brother became president.

His opening informal remarks, he joked about being a non-candidate. "I am always happy to visit New York," he began, "with its theater, its culture, and its 41 electoral votes."

He has a pat response

when reporters ask him if he is a candidate. He replies that he expects that President Carter will run, he renominated and re-elected," and declares that he will support him.

But when a reporter asked if he would state unequivocally that he was not a candidate, he merely repeated the above statement.

And then he added: "When people call me and ask whether or not I am running, I tell them: 'I am not running, and if it is not good enough to hear it over the phone, I will be glad to come out and repeat it to as many people as you want to gather together. And perhaps I will even sleep over at your house.'" A clear allusion to the president's meet-the-people tactics.

For a non-candidate, Kennedy is making Jimmy Carter and his political tacticians very nervous. They have been trying to play it cool and ignore the senator's attacks on various Carter proposals and programs, which have become more frequent lately.

In his remarks at the noon luncheon in New York, Kennedy accused the president of giving it to the big oil interests in his decision to decontrol oil prices.

He said the president "threw in the towel without even getting into the ring," and he called the Carter proposal for a windfall tax on oil corporation profits "a mere fig leaf to try and cover over his capitulation to the oil interests."

The president was holding a televised news conference in Washington that afternoon and he was quick to reply to Kennedy. Showing obvious irritation, he called Kennedy's remarks "a bunch of baloney."

He went on to say that in decontrolling oil prices he was merely carrying out a law passed by Congress, and that Kennedy certainly knew as much. He also said he would welcome Kennedy's support in stiffening the provisions of the windfall oil tax bill.

The Kennedy name kept cropping up all during the four-day meeting.

One panel was made up of "New Faces in Politics," as it was called. They included three Republican senators, Nancy Kassebaum of Kansas, Rudy Bochwitz of Minnesota and Thad Cochran of Mississippi.

The only Democrat was the new governor of New Hampshire, Hugh Gallen. He was recently in the news when he faced down California Gov. Jerry Brown in a debate when Brown went to New Hampshire on behalf of his infant presidential campaign.

One circumstance which could propel Kennedy into the campaign would be some early Brown successes against Carter in the primary, such as in New Hampshire.

The three Republicans were asked who they thought would be the candidate in 1980, and all three named Kennedy.

They were split among John Connally and Sen. Howard Baker on the Republican side. Those two appeared at the next day's luncheon and were interviewed by columnist William F. Buckley about their hopes for nomination.

Their appearances strengthened the feeling that we were witnessing the opening rounds in the 1980 campaign.

It was largely shadow-boxing at that point, but I came away convinced that Kennedy will run if Carter's popularity continues to slip over the next year. And if he doesn't run in 1980, he certainly is positioning himself for 1984.

Electronic blackboards in Illinois

(Engineering Outlook)

"Superstation" is the superlative used to describe TV stations that can be received on cable TV systems throughout the country by way of satellite transmission.

"Superclass" may soon be the word for the engineering courses taught at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign. Classroom voices and student chalkmarks are sent to and from electronic blackboards at several locations in Illinois via telephone.

The "superclass" is a means of UIUC Office of Continuing Education and Public Service to offer educational programs to working professionals off-campus.

The unique part of the electronic blackboard system, developed by Bell Labs and tested for the past three years at UIUC, is that students in the campus classroom or at other remote locations.

To talk with people in any of the classrooms, each student has a conference telephone on his desk which allows him to participate at all the locations were together in one room.

The electronic blackboard is actually a normal-sized blackboard which senses the pressure made by chalk as it scratches over the surface of the board.

Electronic impulses are transmitted to receiving monitors that simulate the path of the chalk's pressure.

Since the transmission is made by voice-grade telephone lines, the expense is far less costly than two-way transmission of television pictures from several locations.

The system can be set up at any location served by telephone. In addition, tape recorders are available at all remote classroom centers and on-campus to enable students to tape the entire presentation, both voice and blackboard writing, on ordinary audio cassettes for later replay.

This also allows students who miss a class session to observe what was discussed before the next class meets.

The electronic blackboard system enables UIUC to conduct live classes at remote locations without having to send an instructor.

Previously, a minimum of 15 students have had to enroll in an off-campus course before the university could justify the expense and time involved of providing an instructor.

With the new system, no minimum enrollment figure is needed because one student at a remote center could join the class without causing inconvenience for the university.

The electronic blackboards have made it possible for UIUC to offer more courses to off-campus students than ever before.

Thus far, four remote centers have been set up for regular class sessions and more are planned. Now, a student who spends his time on the phone tapes good notes.

Arrest boy in stolen auto

A 15-year-old Madison boy faces two charges and a petition may be filed in juvenile court charging auto theft after he allegedly was stopped in a stolen car early this week.

Police were told a black Ford was being driven in an erratic manner north on Nameeki Road and officers saw the car on Nameeki Road just north of Pontoon Road.

Police alleged it was being driven at high speed and was going from lane to lane "all over the road." It appeared as though the driver was intoxicated, officers alleged.

The car was stopped at Route 203 and Maryville Road and the 15-year-old driver was charged with careless driving and not having a driver's license. The boy had no evidence the car was his and police found a car tag from Woodrome Oldsmobile in the auto.

An official of the car dealership was notified and checked his list to discover the car had been taken from the used car lot and had apparently struck another auto on the lot.

The boy was released to his father on a notice to appear, before juvenile authorities.

In Loving Memory of
STEVEN EARL HOLMES

Who passed away June 13, 1978. "Our Little Man" we have precious memories of you; those bright eyes and that big smile, climbing up on our laps to give us a hug and kiss. We miss you singing and dancing for us and how you found it in your heart to play for each one of us.

Now you're with Jesus, sitting on His high throne, and praying for us. That's what Uncle Rod says. We all love you and miss you very much. Someday we'll all be together, never to part again.

Sadly missed by: MaMa Holmes and Guss, Uncle Fred, Steve and Debbie, his daddy and MaMa, Aunt Lorinda and J.J., Uncle Gene and Judy and DeDe's family and his family.

IN LOVING memory of

who passed away June 17, 1977. Sadly missed by daughters Helen, Ethel and Families.

ON JUNE 13, 1978 we lost our little son, STEVEN EARL HOLMES, age 2 years and 5 months. Just a year ago today, our little Stevie went away. Steven Earl Holmes was his name, and he was loved by everyone. You know we were proud to say, "We were our only son, Mommy and daddy still miss you so, we're sorry you had to go, Steve had had other plans and we still don't understand. We know you are an angel up above, surrounded by all of God's love. Sadly missed by Mommy and Daddy. 33 6 14

IN MEMORY OF STEVEN

It seems like only yesterday, it's been a year ago today. My grandson Steven Earl Holmes went away. Grandpa still misses you so. And only God knows why you had to go. Stevie goes he won't be back. And, this is hard to bear. The only thing that comforts me is that you got the best of care. He's with the Lord and someday soon we'll see little Stevie there. Ordinance No. 850
AN ORDINANCE
ESTABLISHING THE
GRADE FOR RAILROAD
CROSSINGS AND REPAIR
THEROF.

WHEREAS, Chapter 24, Section 11-57-1, Illinois Revised Statutes, 1977, among other things, provides that corporate authorities may cause railroad companies to raise or lower their tracks to conform to any grade which, at any time, is established by a municipality; and

WHEREAS, there are numerous railroad crossings created by the intersection of the tracks of various railroad companies with the municipal street and alley system of the City of Madison, Illinois; and
WHEREAS, the various railroad companies must from time to time repair, replace, modify and/or establish said grade crossings; now therefore,

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF MADISON, ILLINOIS, as follows:

Section I: The grade level of any and all railroad crossings with the municipal street and alley system of the City of Madison, Illinois, shall be the surface of the existing street or alley on both sides of said crossing, extended through said crossing.

Section II: Every grade crossing hereafter required, replaced, modified, enlarged, and/or newly established shall be constructed and maintained in such a manner that the top of the rails of said crossing shall be flush with the grade level at all times. In Section I above, however, when a new ballast base is constructed at a grade crossing, the crossing shall be so constructed as to allow conformity to be achieved within a reasonable time by settlement and compaction of said ballast caused by use, in no case shall such variance from grade level exceed one (1) inch.

Section III: Every railroad company shall maintain its crossings within the City of Madison so that at all times they shall be safe as to persons and property crossing them.

Section IV: No barricade shall be placed for any reason by a railroad company or anyone in its behalf upon the streets, alleys, or crossings without first obtaining permission of the Corporate authorities of the City of Madison.

Section V: Any railroad company, hereafter, firm, corporation or otherwise, whether as principal agent, employee, or otherwise, who shall violate any of the terms or provisions of this Ordinance shall, upon conviction, be fined not less than Fifty Dollars ($50.00) nor more than Five Hundred Dollars ($500.00) for said violation.

Each day of a continued violation of any of the terms or provisions of this Ordinance shall constitute a separate additional violation.

Section VI: This Ordinance shall take effect on the full force and effect thereof and after its passage, approval and due publication.

Section VII: If any provision of this Ordinance or application thereof to any person or circumstance is held to be unconstitutional or invalid for any reason by any court of competent jurisdiction, the remainder of the Ordinance and the application of such provision to other persons and circumstances shall not thereby be rendered invalid, unconstitutional or affected thereby but shall remain in full force and effect.

Section VIII: Nothing in this Ordinance shall limit any other right or remedy of the City of Madison to address or prevent violations of the terms and provisions of this Ordinance.

Sanitary District assessment margins rises in county

Madison County control of the Metro-East Sanitary District by virtue of a state law giving three memberships on the five-man board of directors to the county having the largest property valuation has become more firmly entrenched in two years ago, and a long fight through the courts, Madison County now has three trustees on the board. How extensively the board will be permitted to operate will depend upon the outcome of a new plan to split the district mainly along county lines or to abolish the present district and establish separate new districts in the type counties.

Miss Bowles' office announced last week that the new property assessment for the Metro-East Sanitary District in Madison County taxpayers in the district will pay a 33.8 cent rate this year, while those in St. Clair County will pay bills on a 38-cent rate.

Because of an 11 percent multiplying factor applied against assessments county wide, the property valuations of virtually all taxing districts in the Quad-City area, as well as the remainder of the county, were increased.

The only exceptions in this area were those of the city of Venice, the Venice Park District and Venice School District. The Venice Township valuation was set at $41,079,709 overall, the first assessment increase for many years. Last year, Venice Township had an assessment of $39,984,712.

The Granite City Township valuation was set at $186,884,379, up from $176,315,264, and the new valuation for Nameoki Township was fixed at $52,214,007, increased from $47,915,524.

In Chouteau Township, the new total assessment is $34,163,265, compared with last year's $32,940,616. The new township tax rate in Granite City is 25 cents per $100, a slight variation from 24.9 cents last year, and the rate for Venice township was set at 38.8 cents, down from 40.1 cents. The new Chouteau Township rate is 27.8 cents, down from 30.3 cents. Nameoki's town rate is 38.9 cents, down from 30.3 cents. Nameoki's town rate is 38.9 cents, down from 39.2.

Road and bridge taxes on those townships include: Nameoki, 37.1 cents, up from 35.8; Chouteau, 38.8 down from 38.9; Venice, 8.9 cents, up from 8.3.

Madison County taxpayers in the district will pay a 33.8 cent rate this year, while those in St. Clair County will pay bills on a 38-cent rate.

although Madison County residents have been paying nearly half of the total district tax bill in recent years, the bulk of district operations were conducted in St. Clair County.

As a result of the higher Madison County valuation first established in 1977, and a long fight through the courts, Madison County now has three trustees on the board. How extensively the board will be permitted to operate will depend upon the outcome of a new plan to split the district mainly along county lines or to abolish the present district and establish separate new districts in the type counties.

Miss Bowles' office announced last week that the new property assessment for the Metro-East Sanitary District in Madison County taxpayers in the district will pay a 33.8 cent rate this year, while those in St. Clair County will pay bills on a 38-cent rate.

Because of an 11 percent multiplying factor applied against assessments county wide, the property valuations of virtually all taxing districts in the Quad-City area, as well as the remainder of the county, were increased.

The only exceptions in this area were those of the city of Venice, the Venice Park District and Venice School District. The Venice Township valuation was set at $41,079,709 overall, the first assessment increase for many years. Last year, Venice Township had an assessment of $39,984,712.

The Granite City Township valuation was set at $186,884,379, up from $176,315,264, and the new valuation for Nameoki Township was fixed at $52,214,007, increased from $47,915,524.

In Chouteau Township, the new total assessment is $34,163,265, compared with last year's $32,940,616. The new township tax rate in Granite City is 25 cents per $100, a slight variation from 24.9 cents last year, and the rate for Venice township was set at 38.8 cents, down from 40.1 cents. The new Chouteau Township rate is 27.8 cents, down from 30.3 cents. Nameoki's town rate is 38.9 cents, down from 30.3 cents. Nameoki's town rate is 38.9 cents, down from 39.2.

Road and bridge taxes on those townships include: Nameoki, 37.1 cents, up from 35.8; Chouteau, 38.8 down from 38.9; Venice, 8.9 cents, up from 8.3.

Madison County taxpayers in the district will pay a 33.8 cent rate this year, while those in St. Clair County will pay bills on a 38-cent rate.
